HITLER TO BENEFIT

Three Cabinet Posts Will Be Handed to Nazis in Remodeled Government

BERLIN, July 22.—(UP)—The famous iron hand of virtual martial law a definite plan to remodel completely the cabinet soon after the reichstag elections of July 31. And in this shakeup von Schleicher was seen as the dominant figure.

Politicians saw in the swift and amazing death of the Prussian cabinet and declaration of virtual martial law a definite plan to remodel completely the cabinet soon after the reichstag elections of July 31. And in this shakeup von Schleicher was seen as the dominant figure.

There was no doubt of the part von Schleicher played in the overnight "putch" of the junker government that ended state's rights in Prussia, ousted officials who had controlled and Prussian government and police force of 20,000 since the birth of the German republic, and practically nullified the effects of the German revolution.

When von Papen was named chancellor succeeding Dr. Heinrich Brüning, the military came back in control with von Schleicher as its marshal.

Adolf Hitler's Fascists were expected to take an important share in the reich government as a result of the elections. Although Hitler's enthusiasm has cooled for such inflammatory phrases as "heads shall roll in the sand," he remained one of the most important figures in a complex political situation.

As the political shuffle appeared with the monarchists and militarists again rising high, it was proposed to give the Nazis the reich ministries of interior, labor and transportation. Von Schleicher hoped by this move he could successfully skim the revolutionary foam off the Fascist movement.

SENATE COMMITTEE TO ARRIVE TODAY

SACRAMENTO, July 22.—(UP)—The United States senate committee on irrigation and reclamation will arrive in Los Angeles August 30, to make a study of California's water problems, according to word received today by Colonel Walter E. Garrison, director of public works.

Previous to that time the group will have inspected Boulder dam. Garrison, who recently went to Washington, D. C., in the interest of California's statewide water program and an effort to obtain federal aid for the project, invited the committee to visit California and view the sites of the proposed dams.

DISORDERS ARE REPORTED OVER NATION TODAY

Industrial Unrest Results in Disturbances; Mine Situation Calmer

BY UNITED PRESS

THE UNREST of many work- less months was voiced today in half a dozen isolated sections of the country in outbreaks of disturbances and industrial strife.

The Western Indiana coal district was the scene of the most serious trouble. Three companies of militia were called out as a precaution against disorders at Dugger, Ind.

Gov. Harry G. Leslie of Indiana entered the coal fields in person to arrange a truce between picketing union miners and a crew of 27 men who had been imprisoned in the Hoosier mine at Dugger for 35 hours.

The situation at Dugger was calmed by a conference called by the governor but the troops were expected to patrol the region today as a precaution against outbreaks. Martial law was not established.

GASOLINE RECEIPTS ESTABLISH RECORD

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 22.—(UP)—June receipts from California's 3-cent gasoline tax reached a new record total of $4,517,467.44, exceeding any previous month by a half million dollars, Fred E. Stewart of the state board of equalization, announced today.

The June taxes represented a gain of $1,129,901.95 over those of May, an increase of more than 33 per cent.

In paying a tax on 152,103,277 gallons of gasoline during June, distributors reported sales that were 16,932,505 gallons greater than June, 1931.

In explanation of the marked increase, Stewart said that on account of the new federal tax of 1 cent a gallon, "it is apparent that a large volume of gasoline changed hands in anticipation of the federal levy."

400 POISONED AT WASHINGTON PICNIC

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(UP)—Tainted potato salad or deviled eggs were blamed today for potato poisoning which killed Washington hospitals with 400 writhing victims.

The food was served at a picnic attended by 900 employees of two Washington dairies. Later some of it was given to bonus marchers and eaten before it could be recalled. A score of veterans were treated by the over-taxed hospitals.

About 150 of the victims had to remain in hospitals over night. Two were in a serious condition but were expected to recover.

HEAT WAVE IN MIDWEST IS BROKEN

CHICAGO, July 22.—(UP)—Sharply lower temperatures over most of the mid-continent area broke the long heat wave today.

Southern plains states and the lower Ohio valley still sweltered. The death toll for almost a fortnight of equatorial heat approximated 275. Temperatures in Chicago were six degrees below those for corresponding hours yesterday and meteorologist C. A. Donnel said the maximum probably would not be more than 90 degrees.

SURVEY SHOWS BUSINESS OVER NATION BETTER

Reports from large and small industrial centers of the nation indicate a steady return to better economic conditions and increased output.

NEW YORK, July 22.—(UP)—The Chrysler corporation showed a sharp improvement in earnings in the second quarter of this year, reporting a profit of $1,185,052, or 27 cents a share, against a net loss of $2,966,445 in the preceding quarter and a net profit of $3,231,962 in the second quarter of last year. Earnings for the second quarter of this year were in excess of the dividend requirements, 25 cents a share.

CHICAGO, July 22.—(UP)—The regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 per share on the $6 cumulative preferred stock was declared by directors of Public Service Company of Indiana, subsidiary of the Midland United company, payable Aug. 15 to holders of record of July 30, 1932.

CHICAGO, July 22.—(UP)—Illinois chamber of commerce appointed a committee to arrange for credit to repopulate cattle feed lots and thus market corn on the hoof.

CHICAGO, July 22.—(UP)—Coffee men have consolidated the industry after a two year effort on part of Chicago leaders. National Coffee Roasters association, green coffee growers and others have united in the Associated Coffee Industries of America.

CHICAGO, July 22.—(UP)—Detroit Gear & Machine Co., division of Borg-Warner Corp., reported a 10 per cent increase in business over May, according to C. S. Davis, president of Borg-Warner.

SHORTTRIDGE WILL SPEAK AT MEETING

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 22.—(UP)—An address by United States Senator Samuel M. Shortridge was today's headline on the program of the California Postmasters' association, which is holding its annual 3-day convention in the state assembly chambers.

Captain Thomas B. Fisher of the United States Secret Service in San Francisco, was scheduled to talk on counterfeiting, and Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, on the new postal test for state schools.

Over 200 different railroad companies are concerned in the consolidation. In brief, the four party plan represents the commission's idea of the best possible means of building strong lines and yet retaining a maximum of competition. Every large city will be served by two or more roads, as will every port and every section.

ATHLETE'S BROTHER KILLED IN ACCIDENT

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., July 22.—(UP)—Lory Rothert, 21, brother of Harlow Rothert, Stanford university athlete and a member of the United States Olympic field team, was fatally injured early today when an automobile in which he was a passenger struck a depression and overturned.

His companions, "Spec" Jones, 25, and Gordon Smith, 22, were seriously injured.

Rothert died at the Beverly Hills emergency hospital without regaining consciousness.

GAMBLING BARGE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

LONG BEACH, July 22.—(UP)—The luxurious gambling barge Johanna Smith was a smoldering hulk buried to the water's edge today following an explosion and fire which sent 80 panic stricken men and women fleeing for their lives from the dance floor and gaming tables.

All guests and crew were saved by a fleet of rescue craft, led by coast guard cutters and navy launches from the San Pedro dreadnaught anchorage. F. Odette, ship's carpenter, was injured in rescue work. Several of his ribs were fractured when a lifeboat threw him against the rail.

FIFTEEN BELIEVED DROWNED IN LAKE

PONTIAC, Mich., July 22.—(UP)—The waters of Pontiac lake were dragged today for the bodies of four to 15 fishermen sent to watery graves when lightning, hail and a sudden wind storm lashed the water into a fury.

More than 100 boats filled with fishermen were on the two mile lake when black clouds were followed by lightning, hail and rain.

Another moment and wind whipped the calm water into waves five feet high, waves that swamped rented fishing boats manned by inexperienced boatmen.

At least five of the scores of boats were swamped.

CONOLIDATION OF RAILROADS GETS APPROVAL

Interstate Commerce Commission Opens Way for Gigantic Merger

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(UP)—The Interstate Commerce commission has opened the way for a $9,800,000,000 merger of eastern railroads believed to give the carriers their greatest opportunity for a financial comeback since depression and truck competition combined against them.

The commission approved general plans for consolidation of more than 200 lines and 53,000 miles of track into four super-systems that would have a virtual monopoly on rail transportation in the richest shipping territory in the world. Great savings in operating costs would be possible.

Under the approved plan, practically every railroad between Chicago and the Atlantic, between New England and the south, would be consolidated under the standards of the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore & Ohio and the Chesapeake & Ohio-Nichols Plan.

The commission's action puts the consolidation, long hailed as the only practical savior of rail transportation, squarely up to the railroads themselves. The commission's approval was conditioned upon certain changes in the plan submitted by the four big systems. Most of the roads' own proposals were accepted. The commission completely withdrew from its original position that there be a fifth eastern system headed by the Wabash and Seaboard Air Line.

The roads must now agree to a modified plan and then secure the commission's approval for each of the scores of transactions required to complete the four systems. This process may take years.

Over 200 different railroad companies are concerned in the consolidation. In brief, the four party plan represents the commission's idea of the best possible means of building strong lines and yet retaining a maximum of competition. Every large city will be served by two or more roads, as will every port and every section.

WILL NOT REDUCE PRICES FOR FAIR

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 22.—(UP)—Admission prices to the California State fair will not be reduced this year, despite a demand from the state grange, it was declared here today by Charles W. Paine, secretary-treasurer of the fair.

Paine said the grange's proposal was "not worth thinking about" and indicated the present admission prices of 30 cents for adults and 25 cents for children would stand. George Sehmeyer, master of the grange, had asked for prices of 25 and 10 cents.

GOVERNOR ELY TO MEET GOV. ROOSEVELT

TRADING IS HEAVIEST IN OVER MONTH

Wheat and Bonds Also Join Procession as Issues Move Skyward

NEW YORK, July 22.—(UP)—Favorable factors in a diversity of businesses shook the stock market out of its recent lethargy today and sent prices up fractions to 3 points.

Trading was the heaviest since June 3 when 1,900,008 shares changed hands.

Dow-Jones averages rose to the highest levels since June 16 with the railroad average more than 10 percent above its recent low; industrial 13 percent up and utility average 12 percent up.

Rising stocks had a strong background in a bond market where railroad issues soared 1 to 11 points and other issues ruled firm in more active turnover.

Wheat joined the procession with gains ranging above one cent a bushel. Lard jumped 13 to 18 points, responding to advances of 10 to 25 cents per hundredweight in hogs in various markets. Rubber futures soared to new highs on the movement; cotton gained more than 50 cents a bale; sugar rose several points; silk ruled firm; the American dollar held steady to firm.

The immediate cause of the road rally was the decision of the Interstate commerce commission to authorize the four part eastern railroad consolidation program.

A brilliant earnings report by Athletic Refining which reported net of $1.18 a share for the first half of 1932, against a huge net loss in the corresponding 1931 period, helped the oils to continue their recent advance. Other factors helping the petroleum group were improved statistics and prospects of higher prices for crude oil.

Other factors of market importance which helped the rise were: Signing of the two billion dollar relief bill by President Hoover; further predictions of dollar wheat; steadiness in retail trade reported by weekly reviews; a favorable report for the second quarter by Chrysler Corporation; bright outlook for railroads to meet August 1 requirements; and another long list of bright spots in business coming in from all quarters of the country.

Reports simmered into the street that the United States Steel Corporation directors might declare the regular dividend. This was responsible for persistent buying in the issue and it moved up to above 62, against a previous close

BOLIVIANS DEMAND WAR WITH PARAGUAY

LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 22.—(UP)—Popular demand for war against Paraguay swept Bolivia today with the country in a state of siege imposed because the Gran Chaco frontier conflict was regarded as "armed aggression which may compromise the national peace."

The government had the support of the populace and the army in declaring the state of siege and recalling the Bolivian delegates from a conference in Washington.

ZIEGFELD REPORTED GREATLY IMPROVED

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—(UP)—Florenz Ziegfeld, New York theatrical producer who is recovering from an attack of pleurisy, was in a greatly improved condition this morning, his nurses reported. "Ziegfeld 'felt much better,'" she said. His physician announced last night that the creator of the New York "Pollies" is in "no immediate danger," although recovery will be a slow process.

DOG TRACK OFFICIALS PUT UP BONDS

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—(UP)—Prepared to face immediate trial on charges that they conspired to violate the state gambling law, 15 officials and employees of the Culver City Kennel club will appear before Municipal Judge Ellis Eagan next Wednesday for preliminary hearing.

The men surrendered yesterday and posted bond of $250 each.

All recently were charged with the same offense in Culver City justice court, but the charges were dismissed when the court ruled an insufficiency of evidence.

Socialist Candidate for Vice President Urges Veterans Not to Move

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(UP)—The commissioners of the District of Columbia today ordered indefinite postponement of their previous order for the police to evict veterans of the bonus army from government buildings and property.

A defiant answer to the police order that members of the bonus army evacuate government buildings was issued today by Walter W. Waters, commanding the main body of bonus seeking veterans.

Waters said that while resistance by force would not be tolerated, he had instructed his men to remain in their quarters until the police put them out.

"If they chose to evict the members of the B. E. F. from their quarters at Third and Pennsylvania avenues, they will have to evict them bodily, one by one," Waters said. "If they choose to arrest them—well, the housing problem will be taken from the shoulders of the B. E. F. and placed on those of the District of Columbia and its jails."

The eviction at the Third and Pennsylvania avenue buildings was ordered by police today.

James H. Maurer, Socialist candidate for vice president, visited the main bonus camp at Anacostia during the morning and urged a crowd of 450 veterans to oppose all efforts to move them out of Washington.

"Your march on Washington and encampment here," he said, "has been one of the few cheering signs of resentment against the rotten mess into which the rulers of the country have led us."

Members of the bonus army were borrowing on adjusted service certificates under the more liberal terms now in effect.

The administration has approved 4223 applications for transportation home from the bonus camp here. This was an increase of 265 over the number yesterday morning.

CHEVALIER SEEKS DIVORCE

PARIS, July 22.—(UP)—Maurice Chevalier, singing movie comedian, visited the Seine court with his lawyer today to ask permission to file a suit for divorce against Yvonne Vallee.

Miss Vallee was Chevalier's dancing partner in the Paris music hall before she married him. She quit Hollywood and returned to France a month before Chevalier left there.

MISS MEAD DOUBLE WINNER ON LINKS

Lolita Mead had a big day on the Santa Ana Country club golf course yesterday. She not only won first place in Class A blind bogey with 94-17-77, but also tied Mrs. G. B. Talbert in "A" cup competition with the same card, Mrs. Talbert having 95-16-77. Mrs. B. W. McClure was best in Class B cup play with 99-23-77, and Mrs. E. E. Pieper first in Class C with 111-31-80.

Blind bogey results: Miss Mead, 94-17-77; Mrs. L. H. Robinson, 92-14-78; Mrs. J. K. McDonald, 127-51-76.

Signs To Urge Public To Buy at Home

Furthering the "Buy in Santa Ana" movement which has been started here by the Merchants Division of the chamber of commerce, 200 signs advocating the idea of trading with local merchants have been ordered and will be placed in store windows throughout the city. It was announced today by A. Cavalli, manager of the division.

Several three-minute speakers will make addresses driving home the importance of trading at home at local theaters immediately after the first of the coming month.

HONEYMOONERS FREED AFTER NIGHT IN JAIL

Justice Kenneth Morrison has performed so many marriages that he naturally has a warm spot in his heart for newly-weds, so when Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boebert, recently married in Astoria, Ore., came into his court today, charged with going into a quarantined home, he released them on a suspended sentence.

The couple, together with the bride's sister, Mrs. Josephine Munson, 30, of 1702 West Pine street, were lodged in the county jail yesterday, booked for breaking quarantine regulations.

Mrs. Munson's young daughter had diphtheria and the mother together with her guests, the honeymooners, didn't take the law very seriously, according to Dr. K. H. Sutherland, who issued the complaint against the trio.

In court today Mrs. Munson was fined $5 and given a 10 day suspended jail sentence, the court ruling that as long as the three had spent the night in jail, the punishment was sufficient.

During the hearing, the court learned that it was almost necessary for Mr. and Mrs. Boebert to stay at the Munson home in that when they reached Santa Ana they had only a Chevrolet and eight cents.

94-15-76 Class B—Mrs. Norbert Lentz, 107-23-78; Mrs. Lutz, 118-41-77. Class C—Mrs. Eardley, 124-45-79; Mrs. M. N. Thompson, 127-51-76.

Among veteran House members who have been defeated in the primaries are Willis C. Hawley, Republican, Oregon, for years the chairman of the ways and means committee; C. William Ramseyer, Republican, Iowa, for many years prominent among House leaders; and Carl R. Chittenden, Republican, Ill.

Twenty-five members of the present House have been defeated in 20 state primaries already held and relegated to the role of "lame ducks" for the December short session.

Two Senators have been defeated in 15 Senatorial primaries—Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, and Morrison, Democrat, N. C. Morrison went down before a wet sweep in his Southern state which resulted in nomination of Robert R. Reynolds. A variety of issues, including Neutrality, brought the defeat of Brookhart by Henry Ford.

JOE ANTOLIN SENTENCED TO SAN QUENTIN

A motion for a new trial for Joe Antolin, found guilty of manslaughter in Judge G. K. Scovel's department of superior court last week, was denied by Judge Scovel late this morning on the grounds that the evidence produced at the trial by the district attorney's office was sufficient to establish in his mind that Antolin was guilty.

Antolin was found guilty of fatally wounding Eugenio Herrera, a fellow Mexican laborer on "Little Tiajuana" camp in the Bastanchury ranch with a pistol following a drunken brawl in which he, himself, suffered serious wounds.

Judge Scovel sentenced Antolin to serve a term in San Quentin not to exceed ten years when he pronounced judgment following the denial of application for a new trial.

Attorney for the defense immediately gave oral notice that he intended to appeal the case. An application for probation made by the defense was denied on the grounds that the state law forbids the granting of probation in any case where a deadly weapon had been used.

AL'S REDS DEFEATED BY MONTEBELLO, 3-0

Al's Reds, crack Santa Ana night ball club, suffered its first defeat since moving into the "independent" field at Montebello last night, losing to an all-star club picked from the Montebello City league by a score of 3-0.

"Bom" Koral pitched three-hit ball for the Reds, three infield errors giving Montebello all their runs. Morse worked the eighth inning for the Santa Ana Reds to meet the first half champions of the Orange City league. Ray Hodgson will leave for the Reds, Jack Dugan for Orange. The score:

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG News Behind the News

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

DEBTS

Secretary Stimson has been privately showing insiders a letter he sent to Ambassador Gibson at Geneva.

It cautioned Gibson strongly against getting mixed up in the dirty debt business going on near by at Lausanne.

The secretary is using it as proof that we kept our hands out of the thing. Some have fallen for it. They are announcing now that they "know" we were not even informed of the negotiations going on at Lausanne. Their only private knowledge comes from that Stimson letter.

They overlook the fact that MacDonald and Gibson once were caught in a private session at an inn by French officials who walked in for dinner.

The state department contends, of course, that all of the conversations of Gibson and Norman Davis with Herriot of France and MacDonald of Great Britain concerned disarmament alone.

Both Herriot and MacDonald have publicly hinted they have a different view about that.

The Stimson letter may be smoked out of hiding for publication shortly.

Nobody here believes we had any important part in the Lausanne settlement. But we were not as stupid about what was going on as we now claim. Gibson and Davis were actually in close touch with inner development as they had a right to be.

All of the confusion comes from the fact that we are trying to appear purer than we were and they are trying to make it appear that we dictated the settlement.

The truth lies about mid-way between those two contentions.

The idea that Europe pay us a billion in cash now for our debts was apparently planted by high persons in the United States.

It was first broached by a well-informed newspaper man in a national radio speech. He hobnobbed with Stimson and big financial men in New York. The purpose was to get a reaction here and in Europe without involving the government.

The main trouble with it seems to be that our debtors do not have a billion in cash, cannot get it and would not give it to us if they had it.

The hint behind the suggestion concerns the $700,000,000 which Germany will pay under the Lausanne agreement. That is about 25 per cent short of a billion and not in cash or anywhere near it.

The Allies will collect it if and when prosperity is restored abroad. They will probably propose to turn it over to us, but the question is whether any American statesmen would dare to settle on that basis.

The cash value of our eleven billion dollars debt today is theoretically somewhere between five and seven billions.

This is unquestionably only the first of a series of fevers that will be put out from time to time. They will be sponsored by unofficial sources on both sides of the Atlantic for the purpose of laying the groundwork for future negotiations.

These negotiations are yet a long way off.

RADIO
Close connections between the White House and a national broadcasting chain are beginning to be exercised more forcefully.

Not only were they able to push a national feature off the air to let Secretary of Treasury Mills open the Republican campaign.

They also tried to stop an anti-administration senator from broadcasting recently on foreign debts.

The speech of the senator, Shipstead of Minnesota, was critical of the administration's debt policy. The complaint was that he would have embarrassed the Republican campaign.

His scheduled hour was taken away from him and he was given a spot two days later.

Arrangements had gone too far to rattle him out completely.

NOTES
If Ambassador Mellon is coming back to talk about debts he will have to talk in a whisper.

None of his superiors want to talk about that subject unless the doors are locked, windows barred and assurances given that there are no dictaphones in the room.

The senatorial investigation of the Farm Board is purely a political invention. Nothing will be done about the Farm Board until after election.

While hearings are promised for September by the investigators they will more likely be held in December.

ment would give assurance to the banks that the deposits would not be liquidated. This is supposed to stimulate the banks into further loan and investment activity. What it would do to the government bond market is something else.

Another is the "stamped currency" project. The idea of this one would be for the government to issue several billion dollars of self-retiring currency. Whoever held a dollar bill of this issue at the end of each week it was in circulation would have to pay a 1c stamp tax before the bill was valid currency for the following week. At the end of two years the government would have gotten back $1.04 for each dollar issued and the currency would be retired.

The necessity for stamping the currency is supposed to speed up velocity of circulation tremendously.

Still another project to be discussed is the idea of a bonus to industrial corporations for spending money. For example, the government might set aside the sum of five hundred million dollars (where the money would come from is another question) and say it was open to accept bids for this amount. Three different companies might bid for a bonus of twenty million dollars. One would offer to put sixty million of its own money with the twenty million to use on new developments, another eight million, and a third one hundred million.

The company offering to spend the most of its own money would get the twenty million.

The theory is that the encouragement to spend money would help employment conditions.

All of these plans are considered chimerical around here and are interpreted as primarily political gestures. It is pointed out that the president has no authority by himself to make any of these plans effective even if he thinks they are sound.

HOOPER
Hoover's stock has gone up lately in the financial community. His firmness in opposing the Garnerisms in the Relief Bill was warmly applauded.

He is also given credit for preventing the enactment by congress of many other pieces of legislation which locally were considered wild-eyed.

of 60-1.8. The common stock also was in demand.

Auburn Automobile shot up more than 4 points and held most of the gain, the advance being attributed to short covering.

In the railroad group, Jersey Central rose 5 points, and Delaware & Hudson more than 3, while gains of a point or more were noted in Baltimore & Ohio, and Union Pacific.

Atlantic Refining made a new high in the oils and substantial gains were held by others of the group. Sugars held firm as did tobacco.

Adverse reports were issued by several companies including Montgomery Ward and Johns Manville, but the worst of the statements was held until after the close.

It was the General Motors report that showed earnings in the June quarter equivalent to only 7 cents a share against dividend requirements of 50 cents.

SANTA ANAN MADE
DIRECTOR OF LIONS

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—(UP)—Charles H. Hatton, Wichita, Kan., today was elected president of the International Association of Lions clubs at the organization's 16th annual convention here.

St. Louis, Mo., was selected as the 1933 convention city.

Other officers elected were: Roderick Beddow, Birmingham, Ala., first vice president; Vincent C. Haskill, Omaha, Neb., second vice president, and R. J. Osenbaugh, Denver, Colo., third vice president.

Secretary-treasurer Melvin Jones of Chicago, continues in office, not being an elective officer.

International directors selected were: Sam M. Braswell, Clarendon, Tex.; John A. Lloyd, Portsmouth, Ohio; M. B. Mitchell, Seattle; Dr. Elliott H. Rowland, Santa Ana, Calif.; and Will Terry, Little Rock, Ark.

THOMAS ELLIOTT
FUNERAL SATURDAY

Thomas B. Elliott, retired rancher, age 76 years, died at the family home, 1409 Bush street, last night after an illness of several months duration.

Mr. Elliott, who had lived in Santa Ana more than 30 years, coming here from Burlington, Iowa, in 1902, had been an active member of the First Presbyterian church.

He is survived by his widow, Alice L. Elliott; two daughters, Mrs. Frank B. Miller, of Santa Ana, and Mrs. William Brower, New London, Iowa; and several grandchildren, including Mrs. E. M. Sundquist, of Santa Ana.

Funeral services will be held from Harrell and Brown Funeral home, 118 West Seventeenth street, at 2 p. m. tomorrow, with the Rev. O. Scott McFarland officiating.

of 400 demonstrators was quelled by police with fire hoses. The demonstrators tried to halt excavation for a new Federal building. The men protested use of mechanical equipment on the project. Local authorities considered applying for Federal aid in handling the dispute.

Throughout the Illinois coal mining territory miners were idle after voting defeat of a new wage scale proposal. At Springfield, Ill., leaders of the union considered starting negotiations again for a new agreement. Better feeling was aroused by the defeated wage proposal, but no violence occurred.

At High Point, N. C., striking hosiery mill workers refused a wage proposition submitted by operators. Today overall workers planned to join the strike. Aroused workers previously paralyzed operations by cutting off electric power to plants. Wage reductions were blamed for the dispute.

Miners at the Sayreton coal mines of the Republic Steel Corp., at Birmingham, Ala., struck in protest of dismissal of a mine superintendent and alleged illegal disregard of safety measures. The mines have been in operation but one day a week. Miners were cautioned by their leaders against disorders.

An agreement to unionize construction of a Federal dam in the Illinois river at Marseilles, Ill., was expected to restore calm there after one man was killed and 18 wounded in a demonstration this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cole and family had as dinner guests Sunday Mrs. Nellie Steele and sons, Robert and Sidney, and daughter, Florence, of Montebello.

CHECKS MAILED TO DEPOSITORS CLOSED BANKS

Petitions requesting authority to pay dividends to depositors of closed banks in San Juan Capistrano, Balboa, Costa Mesa and Huntington Beach were granted yesterday by Superior Judge G. K. Seovel, the petitions being filed by Edward Rainey, state superintendent of banks.

According to Charles A. LaBree, special deputy superintendent of banks, in charge of the closed financial institutions, the dividends will aggregate $75,000, checks being sent out today.

LaBree stated that another dividend payment will be made by the banks in the late summer or early fall. He refused to estimate the amount of the dividends.

The First State bank at San Juan Capistrano is paying 10 per cent on commercial accounts. No payment is being made on savings accounts at this time.

The Bank of Balboa, which operated a branch at Costa Mesa in addition to one in Balboa, is paying 15 per cent on both commercial and savings accounts.

The First State bank of Huntington Beach is paying 25 per cent on savings accounts and 15 per cent on commercial accounts.

The Bank of Balboa closed January 20, the Huntington Beach institution on January 22 and the Capistrano bank on January 29.

WOMAN WINS PROBATION IN DEATH CASE

Collapsing completely as she heard Judge H. G. Ames grant her probation on a manslaughter charge, Mrs. Zemila Ostott, wife of a San Juan Capistrano druggist, was today a free woman as a result of the decision of Judge Ames to grant her plea for probation.

For the fourth time in the same court, Mrs. Ostott fainted as some new angle in the case developed. Court attendants called Dr. K. H. Sutherland to the courtroom after she had been unconscious for about five minutes. As a condition of the probation granted her, Mrs. Ostott must drink no liquor nor be any place where liquor is sold, is in evidence or consumed. Her driver's license was revoked for a year and Judge Ames imposed a further condition that she will not be allowed to drive her car for an additional year. No jail sentence was attached to the probation condition.

The woman had been found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in the same superior court department recently in connection with the death of Juanita Lopez, who was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Ostott on April 17 at San Juan Capistrano.

DEMOCRATS GATHER AT ANAHEIM TODAY

Democrats of the county are to attend another big rally scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight, in the Knights of Pythias hall, at Anaheim.

Pierson Hall, former Los Angeles city councilman and secretary of the California delegation to the Chicago convention will be the principal speaker of the evening.

Democratic candidates for county and state offices also are to talk.

Another Democratic meeting is scheduled to be held in La Habra next Tuesday night.

S.A. Police Recover Stolen Automobile

Two automobiles were reported stolen in the county last night, one of which was recovered by Santa Ana police officers early today.

A car owned by R. L. Wilsey, of 1006 Kilson drive was stolen from a place where it was parked on Second street between Ross and Van Ness streets early last night. It was driven to the city limits and abandoned.

Vernon Orr, of Newport Beach, reported to the sheriff's office today his car was stolen from a Newport Beach street early last night.

Local Briefs

Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, returned last night from a short trip to Yosemite park. He has resumed his duties in connection with the pastorate and will preach at the Sunday services.

Judge Frank C. Drumm, Charles D. Overshiner, Carl Mock, Robert L. Brown, and Maurice Phillips are among Santa Anans reported planning to go north Saturday to attend the national Shrine convention in San Francisco. It is expected that a score of Santa Anans and about 50 Orange county Shriners will be represented at the meet. Otto S. Haan, president of the Orange County Shriners club, will be unable to attend.

COUNTY BUDGET TO BE STUDIED BY TAX GROUP

A complete study of county departmental budget requests, made to the board of supervisors by heads of county departments, will be made by the Joint Farm Bureau and Santa Ana Realty Board tax committee, it was decided at a meeting held last night in Ketter's cafe.

None of the budget requests have as yet been made public by Auditor William Lambert.

The committee expects to attend the budget hearings which will be held by the board of supervisors starting August 20.

A report on the completion of the first tax project undertaken by the joint tax committee was made regarding school budgets in the county. Approval of the reductions made by school boards throughout the county in the budgets this year was expressed by the group.

The group voted to take steps to gather information regarding the proposed state constitutional amendment which would substitute a selective sales tax and personal income tax for the school property tax. A study of how the new tax system would affect this county will be made by the group.

Two Hurt When Truck Hits Tree

Two Mexicans were injured at 6 o'clock last night when the truck on which they were riding got beyond the control of the driver, ran off the road and crashed into a tree on the Ball road, near Palm avenue.

The driver of the car was Laureano Tacazon, 24, of 1907 West Fifth street. The name of the other man was not reported. He lived at the same address.

According to a report filed at the office of the California highway patrol, no other machine was involved in the accident, but it occurred when Tacazon attempted to dodge a car coming from the opposite direction.

Continue Liquor Case Till Monday

After hearing all of the evidence in the case of the state against Rufus Nieblas, in Judge J. G. Mitchell's police court yesterday, the case was continued until Monday morning at 10 o'clock when arguments to the jury will be made.

The city is trying Nieblas for the third time, two previous juries having been unable to reach a verdict. Nieblas is charged with possession of liquor. He is asserted to have sold Officer J. F. McWilliams the liquor in exchange for marked money.

INDIANS ADOPT SAN JUAN GIRL, AND LINQUIST

In connection with the ancient Indian ceremonial rites at Rincon tomorrow, in connection with the observance of the famous "Ceremony of the Dead," interest of Santa Ana and Orange county residents will be applied more directly to the companion rites when two persons will be made members of the Indian tribe, for these two new members, Miss Jane Magee and Dr. John Harrington, the latter now of the Smithsonian Institution, are well known here.

Miss Magee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Magee of San Juan Capistrano where her father is cattle foreman of the famous O'Neill ranch. Dr. John Harrington, Indian language expert, was formerly connected with the Santa Ana high school faculty for a number of years. He has been in this city for the past few weeks assisting in an advisory capacity at the high school printing office, on the book of California Indian history, "Chinichinich," to be issued from the high school press in the near future.

The honor of being received into the tribe through the special ceremonial rites, is being paid Dr. Harrington and Miss Magee in recognition of their activities in translating Indian languages. The rites will follow the "Ceremony of the Dead" to be observed at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and it is said that several Indians over 100 years of age will take part. Widely scattered tribes will be assembled for the occasion. Indian runners having sped over old trails to summon their tribesmen of the Yapache, Pala, Luisino, Mesa Grande, Pauma, Pechenga, Soboba and Cahulla tribes.

The summings is an urgent one, for it is possible that this may be the last of the mystic gatherings. There are said to be but five ancient Indians living who can chant the ceremonial formula. Rincon may be reached by either the inland or the coast route. By the former, travel would be through Corona, Elsinore, Temecula and Pala, while those going by the coast route would proceed directly to Oceanside and there turn inland via Pala Mission. Many Santa Ana people, interested in these ancient ceremonies and especially in the induction of two people into the tribe who are so well known here, are planning to be present for the rites.

Dr. Harrington will return to Santa Ana for further work in connection with the book being published here.

Urge Adoption Of Canyon Road As State Highway

Refusal of the state highway commission to include several previously suggested roads in the state highway system has caused the San Bernardino county supervisors to urge the commission to substitute the Carbon canyon road by adopting it as a state highway for maintenance, it was learned today.

In a letter to the commission, the supervisors cited the advantages of the Carbon canyon road, declaring that the road would be a connection between the Pomona-Temecula route and the Brea canyon road, both of which are in the state highway system and would afford considerable relief to the heavily traveled Santa Ana canyon highway.

OLD FLAG POLE IS MOVED TO LEGION HALL

The flag pole which stood for many years in front of the old Francis Willard Junior high school building on North Main street which was recently torn down, last night was placed in front of the American Legion clubhouse at Orange with appropriate ceremonies. It was especially fitting that the 50-foot pole was so placed as originally it was made and erected under the supervision of the late E. H. C. Franzen, of Santa Ana, father of George Franzen, past commander of the Orange post and commander of the Fifth Area of the American Legion.

Ewald Wagner presented the post with a 10x6 American flag which was placed on the pole. At a meeting of the Legion which followed the ceremonies for raising the pole, Robert Graham reported that two boys from the Orange American Legion scout troop had been sent to camp with funds from the jamboree staged by the 40 at 5.

Delegates were appointed by the Orange post to the Fifth Area convention to be held July 30-31 at Coronado ten city. They were Dr. W. M. Tipple, Ray Long, Edwin Fisher, Ewald Wagner, George Bickford and Robert Graham. Delegates to the Oakland conventions are Ewald Wagner, Ed Fisher, Dr. W. M. Tipple, Ed Haines, Walter Brubaker, Fred Waldo, Earl Hobbs and Verne Shippee.

Nominations of officers was made and the nominations will be open until the next meeting of the post August 4. Nominations for commander were Robert Graham, Verne Shippee and Dr. W. M. Tipple; first vice commander, George Bickford and Robert Graham; second vice commander, George Wilbur; adjutant, Verne Shippee and Earl Hobbs; historian, Harvey Riggie; chaplain, Dr.

BEAN GROWERS TO PICNIC AT IRVINE PARK

Arrangements have been completed by the directors of the bean department of the Orange County Farm Bureau for the first annual picnic of the department, which is to be held at Irvine park at noon tomorrow. The families and friends of the bean growers of Orange county are invited to attend.

The association will provide coffee, baked lima beans, bread, butter, and watermelons. All other food and all eating utensils are to be brought by the picnickers. Following the dinner, a talk on the lima bean situation will be given by R. L. Churchill, of Oxnard, secretary of the association. Brief reports on the activities of the local bean department and the Farm Bureau will follow. Inquiries may be directed to Vernon Heil, chairman of the department, or to the Farm Bureau office in Santa Ana.

BAND CONCERT IS ENJOYED BY LARGE CROWD

A crowd that filled facilities at the park to capacity was present last night to hear the Washington Bicentennial program by the city band, which was the fourth of the series of summer concerts in Birch park. The excellent performance of the band was warmly applauded by the large and appreciative audience.

The march "General Felix Agnus," by W. P. Chambers, which was played for the first time in Santa Ana, commenced the program in a brilliant manner. This concert march opens with a brass trio carrying the strains of "America" to the clear and distinct variations of the clarinets, and then closing with a brilliant grandioso. Following this highly enthusiastic march, the overture "Stradella" was played with equal success. This colorful overture opens with a harmonious quartet of French horns playing a slow melody in four part harmony which is later repeated by the clarinets and the other brass and then sweeps into a brilliant allegro with the clarinets carrying the principal part, which, interwoven with diminished seventh chords gave a glorious and colorful effect.

The third number played was the "Southern Rhapsody" by L. Hooper which proved to be a delightful melody of popular southern melodies. The Rhapsody after having begun in a magnificent manner slowly moves into a series of warm southern melodies which were played by the band with a smoothness of tone and a finesse of interpretation which brought two encores.

In keeping with the militaristic nature of the program, the "American Patrol," a composition of Menckham was played. Opening with a drum corps, the melody softly starts with the road instruments and then increases to a faster and more vivacious tempo with the full band playing and producing an effect which stirred the audience and brought about a very inspired applause. The gay "Valse Militaire" by Waldteufel, also in keeping with this militaristic mood proved to be one of the most attractive numbers of the evening.

One of the highlights of the program was the appearance of George Stinson, popular dramatic tenor, who favored the eager listeners with the triumphant "Glory" by Charles Wakefield Cadman. His resonant voice, so well adapted to outdoor rendition added force and beauty to this admirable song. As his encore, Stinson sang "Dixie" the old southern melody always a favorite.

ARRANGE FUNERAL OF DAVID GRIFFITH

Funeral services for David Griffith, 75, who passed away at his home in Orange this morning, will be held from the Gilgoly Funeral parlors in Orange Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the Rev. L. V. Lucas, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Members of the Masonic lodge will have charge of the rites at the grave in Fairhaven cemetery.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Kate Griffith; one son, Calvin, of Modesto, and two daughters, Mrs. Anna Kaiser, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Rhoda Snyder, Fairberry, Neb.

Mr. Griffith had resided in the Orange district for the past 20 years. He was a member of the First Methodist church and of the Men's Bible class.

MRS. C. W. GOWDY DIES AT HOME HERE

Mrs. Bernice I. Gowdy, 24, wife of C. Wells Gowdy, died at the family home, 1007 West Camille street, today after an illness of several months.

In addition to her husband, who is with the Turner Radio company, she is survived by two small children, one two years old and the other five months old; a brother, James E. Corbett, and an aunt, Mrs. Leslie Wright, both of Santa Ana; and three uncles, Earl Barry and Dell Barry, of Huntington Beach, and Charles Barry, of Colorado.

Funeral services will be held from the Winbigger Funeral home, 609 North Main street, at 10 a.m. next Monday, with the Rev. F. A. Flora officiating. Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

S. A. ELKS TO WOMAN KILLED OBSERVE PUBLIC BY P. E. TRAIN OFFICIAL NIGHT IS IDENTIFIED

Public official night will be observed by Santa Ana Elks at a special meeting which will be held in the clubhouse next Tuesday night at 7 o'clock. It was announced today. Earl Abbey will have charge of the meeting.

Every Elk from the court house or city hall is expected to be in attendance at the meeting. The program will start with an hour of moving pictures which will be shown at 7 o'clock. From 8 until 8:30 p. m. the regular lodge session will be held.

The entertainment program proper will begin at 8:30 p. m. Arrangements for the show which will be presented have been made by Robert Walker, head of the entertainment committee.

Lodges at Anaheim and Orange have been invited to this meeting.

Students Present Musical Program

Students of the Business Institute and Secretarial school, 415 North Sycamore street, assisted by Ted Collins, director of the American Legion band, furnished their own numbers for the assembly period yesterday as follows: Trumpet solo, Miss Beatrice Rhodes, of Laguna Beach, accompanied on piano by Ted Collins; piano solo, Miss Corrine Nelson, daughter of H. G. Nelson of this city; trumpet duet, Miss Beatrice Rhodes and Ted Collins accompanied by Miss Corrine Nelson.

The battered and lacerated body of a red haired woman killed by a Pacific Electric train, near Sunset Beach at 12:55 a. m. yesterday, was positively identified early last night as that of Mrs. Cloise Wilson, 48, a divorcee residing at 1500 East Eleventh street, Long Beach.

The identification was made by her former husband, who went to the Dixon funeral home at Huntington Beach, where the body is being held, pending an inquest.

Mrs. Wilson was killed as she and Jay P. Bassett, 34, of 1082 Roswell street, Long Beach, sat between the rails unaware of the advance of the car which brought death to both of them. Bassett died in a Long Beach hospital two hours later.

With the identification, Earl Abbey, coroner, announced today he would hold an inquest over the body of the woman at 10 a. m. tomorrow at Huntington Beach.

Mrs. Wilson was reported here to have been the mother of four children. Inquest into Bassett's death will be held in Long Beach, probably tomorrow.

NOT SATISFACTORY
SALT LAKE.—D. D. Donovan runs a drug store and has a sign reading, "Satisfaction Guaranteed." A youth recently entered and asked if the sign meant what it read. Donovan assured him that it did. "Then fill this order," the youth replied, handing Donovan a note. The note asked for all the money in the place. "We're just out of that commodity," Donovan told him. The wound-be bandit fled.

HADALLER IN DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS RACE

John H. Hadaller, San Bernardino attorney, who is candidate for the Democratic nomination for congressman from the nineteenth district, today made formal statement of his candidacy.

Hadaller's campaign cards, under the heading "I Advocate" carry the following statements:

"Repeal of the Eighteenth amendment and sensible regulation with revenue for the government."

"U. S. Insurance of bank deposits."

"Every legal aid to restore the farmer's condition."

"The regulation by the U. S. government of the sale of foreign bonds in the United States."

"Better division of corporate profits to wage earners and consumers."

"Regulation of manufacturing by federal incorporation to prevent overproduction, sale of watered stocks and illegal practices."

"Dramatic reductions of costs of government and living within our income."

"Promotion and unemployment insurance and old age pensions for wage workers."

The candidate, who classes himself as a liberal and progressive, says that prohibition is far from being the main question in the campaign; that the country is in a new epoch and that future

CLUB MEMBERS HOLD PARTY IN GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, July 22.—A "hard times" party was held by members of the Business and Professional Woman's club at the home of Mrs. J. Overland Smith on East Stanford street, this week.

In a contest Mrs. E. H. Darling was awarded five cents for having the longest list of articles that could be purchased with that sum.

Miss Marcia Carmichael was winner of another contest.

At the business session it was decided to hold a beach party in August.

Several games of bridge were played with Miss Gertrude Jentges holding high score, Miss Anne Ashley, second high, Miss Ruth Ryan next to low and Miss Leona Carmichael low score. The prizes were in keeping with the times and the tally cards had been used before.

The refreshments of salad, rolls and coffee were served on newspapers cut in fancy designs.

Those present were Miss Eleanor Wisner, Miss Gertrude Jentges, Miss Clara Carmichael and Miss Leona Carmichael, guests of the club, Miss Marcia Carmichael, Miss Ruth Ryan, Miss Mabel Head, Miss Anna Ashley, Miss Norma Larson, Miss Frances Dungan, Mrs. P. N. Larson, Mrs. B. A. Wisner, Mrs. C. G. Crosby, Mrs. H. T. Keeler, Mrs. Traverser, Mrs. Delbert Wilkinson, Mrs. E. H. Darling, Mrs. Wayne

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

Editor, Register:

I was certainly surprised at the attitude of our city council on Monday evening, July 18, in regard to the ordinance requesting the barbers of Santa Ana to close their shops at 6 p. m. and 9 p. m. on Saturday nights and nights before holidays.

How a city council can vote down a progressive proposition that four-fifths of the barber shop owners of the city sent in a petition requesting them to pass, is certainly beyond my understanding.

The proprietors that signed the petition requesting this ordinance represent and pay taxes to the city and county on property valuations at from $100,000 to $150,000, as compared with those opposing such an ordinance which represents between $50,000 and $100,000. There was not a man opposing this ordinance that owns his own property or at least not over one or two. But on the other hand the barbers requesting this ordinance the majority of them own their own property, pay heavy taxes to the city and county, thereby helping to support and beautify our city, but have to take a back seat and let three or four barbers that do not even own a first class shop pay very little taxes, dictate to the council and tell them what they should or should not do.

Now an ordinance was passed by the city council of Salinas, in Monterey county, the same as we requested the city council of Santa Ana to pass and it was tested by the superior court of Monterey county and the ordinance was upheld as being constitutional and absolutely not class legislation. The opinion of the judge of Monterey county was based on decisions as handed down by the state supreme court and also the United States courts, but still our honorable city council turned down a proposition which to the majority of, or at least 98 per cent, means a progressive move thereby putting us in a rut we were in about 30 years ago. Now, we as intelligent people, do not care to go back but ahead.

Why we have shop owners (opposed to this ordinance) who hire their barbers and compel them to work from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. and if they refuse, well, they have no job. Talk about slavery, God forbid us ever going back to it, but it looks as though there are city councils that wish to legislate us back 25 or 30 years instead of advancing with the times.

I have written this in behalf of 98 per cent of the barbers of Santa Ana.

ALVIN H. BAUER, City.

POLO TEAM PLAYS FIRST GAME SUNDAY

LA HABRA, July 22.—The first game of the newly organized polo team of the La Habra heights district is scheduled to be held Sunday. The organization now has its own field located at the intersection of La Mirada and the Buena Park road. The land is owned by J. H. Walker and was loaned to the club for polo field purposes. Mr. Walker is an enthusiastic horseman and was largely responsible for the organization of the team.

The game for Sunday will be played with the Artesia polo team and is to start at 9 o'clock in the morning. Other games are being arranged for coming Sundays and will probably be played in the afternoon. The club invites those interested to witness the first game.

The members of the Heights club are James H. Walker, A. V. Douglass, Grant A. Van Valin, Ralph McCutcheon, Price Walker, G. L. Remington and H. Smith.

OPEN WATER SUIT HERE ON AUGUST 8

LA HABRA, July 22.—The case of La Habra vs. the American States Water Service company is scheduled to come up for hearing in Santa Ana August 8.

This is a suit asking for the annulment of whatever franchise the water company may hold in the city of La Habra, and on the outcome of the case rests the action of the city in proceeding with the bonds in the amount of $10,000 were voted several months ago.

The case was postponed early in July at the request of the water company, to allow more time for gathering data relative to same.

Rev. Hawes Talks At Union Church Services Sunday

FULLERTON, July 22.—The Rev. Francis E. Hawes, pastor of the Baptist church, will deliver the address at the union services of Protestant churches at the tabernacle Sunday night, the service starting at 7:30 o'clock for those who do not attend the prohibition rally at Anaheim city park, where Mrs. Mary Harris Anson will talk.

The Rev. Mr. Hawes is to conduct services at his own church in the morning and the Rev. Dr. Graham C. Hunter will hold services at the Presbyterian church for the Presbyterian and the Christian churches at 10:30 a. m. Sunday.

At the Methodist church, which cooperates in the union services at night, the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman will preach at the morning hour.

Conaty, pastor of Immaculate Conception church, Los Angeles; benediction by the Very Rev. Michael O'Gorman, pastor of Holy Cross church, Los Angeles.

Firemen Elect Ball Team Head

MIDWAY CITY, July 22.—Members of the Midway City fire department are working on the constitution and by-laws of their organization. I. Condit has been named captain of the ball team for the firemen's organization. Games will begin with the completion of the ball park, which is rapidly nearing completion.

There were 15 men of the organization present at this week's meeting held at the Midway City clubhouse. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were furnished by the captain of the fire department, Harold Robertson.

House Menaced As Curtain Burns

LA HABRA, July 22.—When the curtain in the home of E. C. Chambers on East First street blew across the flame in the gas stove shortly after noon yesterday the volunteer fire department was called upon to extinguish the blaze. Little damage was done. The curtain was burned and the window frame scorched. The house is owned by Frank D. McPadden.

LIQUOR EVILS DISCUSSED BY CHURCH GROUP

ORANGE, July 22.—The topic of prohibition played an important part in the program presented by the members of the Women's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church when the group met yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Robert Burns McAulay spoke on "Bumps On the Highway of Life." Included in the more important bumps which must be leveled, she said, were the prohibition bump and the amusement bump. She urged the raising of the amusement level.

In speaking of prohibition, Mrs. McAulay said that the prohibition bump should be eliminated between the present time and the election this fall. Mrs. McAulay told of meeting a young girl recently who had just returned from a trip to Canada. "The young girl," she said, had been shocked by the drinking on trains in that country and the persons drunk.

Some people who hear over and over again that the repeal of the 18th amendment is the right thing, may conclude that the amendment should be repealed, being misled by the constant repetition of the statement, the speaker said. It is said that young people are drinking because they are forbidden to do so, said the speaker, and that if the amendment were repealed they would get no kick out of drinking. Bootleggers still ply their trade in Canada, Mrs. McAulay said, and there are many illicit stills and the plan which was to have resulted in the control of the liquor traffic has resulted in increased drinking.

Mrs. R. W. Jones gave a brief report of the W. C. T. U. meeting at the Pacific Palisades where she said support of President Hoover has been urged. "We are sorry," Mrs. Jones said, "for the word retribution in the Republican platform, but I believe things are safe in the president's hands."

Mrs. Margaret Ochles spoke on "The Hope of China" and gave several stories of women's sacrifices in that country. Mrs. S. F. Taylor spoke on "Why Send New Missionaries" and Mrs. C. O. Powell on the home for Chinese girls in San Francisco. The hostess was Mrs. W. O. Higgins. Mrs. F. E. Harrison and Mrs. Walter Lovell accompanied by Mrs. Ochles, sang duets. Mrs. Carl Pister played the accompaniments for the group singing. Mrs. Roy Snodgrass gave a short outline of mission work at the beginning of the meeting. It was announced that Mary

Presbyterians At Annual Session In San Diego Church

ORANGE, July 22.—The Synod of California began the annual meeting at the First Presbyterian church in San Diego last night. The session will continue through next Wednesday. The local Presbyterian church is represented by the pastor, Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, and by Elder W. F. Crist. Others attending include Mrs. Crist and Mrs. Sarah J. Duster.

The Synod of California includes all Presbyterian churches in the state of California and Nevada to the extent of 277 churches and 863 ministers and 98,571 members.

The sessions opened with a sermon by the moderator, the Rev. Elmer Ellsworth Ingram, D.D., of Santa Rosa. During the sessions, Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe of Los Angeles will give an address on the prohibition situation. Each evening a popular meeting will be held at which an address will be given by Rev. Roy Swing Vale, D.D., pastor of the Woodward Avenue Presbyterian church, Detroit.

ADVISOR TALKS ON MARKETING OF VALENCIAS

ORANGE, July 22.—Harold Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, was the speaker at the meeting of the Rotary club yesterday, when he spoke on the changes which are taking place in the citrus industry, stressing late methods of irrigation and cultivation. John Adams was the program chairman.

In speaking of the prorating plan in the marketing of valencias, Wahlberg said that the plan had not been abandoned and that the farm bureau and the University of California were still working toward the fulfillment of the plan. He said that had it been carried out this year it would have benefited Orange county growers to the extent of $3,000,000.

In pointing out different methods of irrigation, Wahlberg said that 15 years ago irrigation was regulated by the calendar and not by soil conditions. At the present time instead of irrigating every three weeks as was formerly done, soil conditions are studied and water is applied as it is needed. Water companies co-operate in this, he said.

This change results in an average saving of one irrigation a grove per year, said the speaker, and a saving of $125,000 in water on the 65,000 acres of citrus fruit in Orange county. Ninety per cent of this acreage is set to valencia oranges.

Conservative cultivation was recommended by the speaker, who said that it used to be considered essential to cultivate citrus land very extensively, wearing out men, tools, land and trees unnecessarily. Cultivation has been cut from 25 to 50 per cent, he said, saving from $300,000 to $350,000 on labor alone, according to cost records compiled.

Wahlberg pointed out the changes which are taking place in marketing conditions and spoke of the need for better co-operation among co-operative associations in meeting the present surplus. It is hoped, he said, to work out something which would be of benefit this year.

Agriculture is either going forward or backward and the grower must be alert to the changes in progress in order to meet them, the advisor declared. The grower must build up to maintain the right marketing, distribution, cultivation and irrigation conditions, the speaker concluded.

W. C. T. U. PUTS UP POSTERS IN ORANGE STORES

ORANGE, July 22.—Putting up new posters in downtown windows and distributing various pamphlets, members of the Orange W. C. T. U. have been busy this month, devoting their time to the cause even though they are having but one monthly meeting during July and August. Meetings are held every two weeks other months of the year.

Posters which had been in the downtown windows were substituted by new ones recently. Some of these state "We want jobs, not jags." "Prohibition has reduced drinking two-thirds percent" and "Prohibition, a life saver."

Literature being distributed contains the following statements: "The liquor traffic always was and always will be crime-making and law breaking. That's one of the chief reasons for prohibition." "Admitted that there are speak-easies now. Law-defying liquor dealers flourished by the hundreds of thousands even under the license system, operating 'blind pigs' and 'blind tigers,' besides all the thousands of saloons, grog shops, barrel houses and bars in clubs and hotels and cafes."

"Liquor dealers themselves admit there are 4000 blind pigs in Minneapolis," said the Minneapolis Journal, March 1928. "The Kansas City Star recently brought out the significant fact that in that typical mid-west city, a survey made 25 years ago under the mayor of the city, revealed 300 licensed saloons and 2100 'joints' operating against the law and paying no fee. A present survey unearthed 300 speak-easies. That still leaves the city 2100 to the good."

"No matter how many speak-easies there are in the country, they do not sell as much liquor in one week, as a few saloons in those communities sold in one day before prohibition," says Whiting Williams, famous sociologist and national labor investigator.

RESIDENCE ROBBED

LA HABRA, July 22.—The home of G. E. Estabrook on Central avenue in East Whittier was robbed for the second time in the past few months, when burglars entered the home while the family was away in Los Angeles this week. TWO EXCELLENT PROGRAMS WILL BE BROADCAST

German Elections To Be Discussed by Political Observer

Barbara White and Hilma Rauma, talented young artists who have met with instant approval of listeners, although this is only their third program, will be heard again over KREG from 8 until 8:15 o'clock tonight.

Barbara will sing "Life" by Ole Speaks, omitted from their last program, and Nevins' "Little Boy Blue," the words to which were written by Eugene Field shortly after the death of his own little son.

Hilma will offer Moszkowski's "Scherzino," as a piano number, and the duo will play Schumann's famous "Traumerei," as a violin and piano duet.

Another program of excellent music will be broadcast by Carlos Molina and His Ambassador Hotel Orchestra, sponsored by Gray-Gone, at 8:45 o'clock this evening. The program is scheduled for mornings as well, daily except Sundays, at 10 o'clock.

The large band is internationally known for its excellent music and orchestration of Latin-American compositions. Molina conducts his own numbers and responds to requests written to him in care of KREG.

DEFENDED PUP

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—Lee Ricketts saw Joseph Barthom kick a stray pup. He hit Barthom in the jaw. "I'll jolt anyone who mistreats a dog," he told police who took him to jail.

Kurt Sell, correspondent of Wolff's Telegraphic Bureau and the Reichs Rundfunk Gesellschaft, will discuss Germany's general elections from various angles over a transcontinental NBC network when he faces a microphone in Washington at 2:30 p. m., P.S.T. tomorrow. KFSD will release the talk.

These elections are of the utmost international importance due to the many negotiations and conferences now current between nations of the world on matters of finance and armament.

Sell's voice is one of the best known in Central Europe due to his weekly short wave broadcasts through NBC facilities to a huge international network across the Atlantic. The network, more extensive than any in the United States, comprises 110 stations in Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Norway which are especially hooked up for Sell's weekly talks.

These broadcasts, delivered in German and not heard in the United States, are short waves from Schenectady to the R.R.G. station at Koenigsbushausen which picks them up for the big European network.

Under the title "What America Talks About," Sell tells his huge international audience of important developments in the United States and interprets them in an impartial way. Letters come from all over Europe in a dozen different languages asking about matters of interest which Sell clears up in his broadcasts.

Sell's knowledge of international relations is unusually extensive and his enormous radio following in Europe is of the most intellectual type including high government officials, students of international politics, economists, and professors as well as the general run of intelligent citizens.

EXTEND TIME OF POLITICAL PROGRAM TODAY

Due to the increasing interest and resultant increase in number of questions being sent in by listeners, it has been necessary to extend the period of broadcasting the Our Government and Who's Who in Local Politics program to a half-hour instead of 15 minutes allotted to the program before. It was announced today by studio officials.

The program in the future will be broadcast each day from KREG from 8:30 until 9 p. m. The presentation is intended to bring the attention of voters to the local candidates for the August primaries. Who the candidates are, what some of their qualifications are, in addition to explaining the various duties and responsibilities held by particular officers in the state, county and city governments, will be told.

Questions on any phase of governmental operation or procedure are answered on each program. Voters who desire, may write KREG in care of the program director to have any question relating to governmental office answered for them over the air.

RADIO FEATURES

Time References Are Pacific Standard Time

Rachel Morton, young American soprano who returned to the United States from England at the invitation of Walter Damrosch, will be presented in a half-hour recital over a coast-to-coast NBC network including KFSD, beginning at 8:30 o'clock tonight. Accompanied by an orchestra directed by Cesare Sodero, Miss Morton will sing "Voi lo sapete" from Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana," a French art-song by Paulin, Richard Wagner's great song, "Traume," and two concert numbers in English.

A recital of choral music by the Berlin Teachers Chorus, one of the features of the current Frankfurt Song Festival, will be transmitted direct from Festival Hall, Frankfurt, Germany, during an international broadcast which is scheduled at noon tomorrow. Columbia stations releasing the program include KHJ.

MEXICAN ORCHESTRA PRESENTED TONIGHT

As a special feature for tonight's Spanish Hour program, broadcast from KREG from 9 until 10 o'clock, Senor Laurent has announced that a 12-piece orchestra, formerly associated with one of the most prominent hotels of Ensenada, Mexico, will provide music and that this evening's program will be Globe Mills night on the Spanish Hour.

Several well known Spanish artists from Los Angeles will also be present to augment the elaborate program which has been arranged by Senor Laurent.

KREG NOTES

The Rev. Fred A. Flora, pastor of the Santa Ana Church of the Brethren, will be the featured speaker on the program broadcast at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning during the Little Church of the Wildwood program. It was announced today. The program is sponsored by the Central Memorial Park.

Starting tomorrow, the New York stock market reports will be broadcast from KREG at 2 p. m. on Saturdays, instead of 1:30 p. m. as is customary on week days.

Another enthralling episode in the history of the United States Intelligence Service, portraying actual experiences and happenings of this mysterious and seldom publicized department of the army will be on the air from KREG at 7 o'clock tonight.

LEAD YEAR BRIDE

by Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Cherry Dixon, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, falls in love with Dan Phillips, newspaper reporter. She quarrels with her father about Dan and then, taking advantage of her father's absence, she marries him. They are married and Cherry for the first time finds what it means to lack money. They take a cheap apartment and her struggles with housework are discouraging. Dixie Shannon, movie critic of the News, is friendly with Cherry. She meets handsome Mox Pearson, also on the News.

After several weeks Cherry's mother becomes seriously ill. The girl is called home and there is a reconciliation with her parents but pride will not allow her to accept financial aid from them. When Mrs. Dixon is stronger she sends her husband away for several months at the seashore.

CHAPTER XXXIV

Dan was beside her. "Why, no," he said in a startled voice. "That isn't what I mean at all. I wouldn't go any place without you, Cherry. You know that!"

"But you said you wanted to get away from all this. I don't see how we could leave. There's the lease on the apartment—"

"That's just it!" he insisted. "Leases—bills—always something to force you into a rut! That's what I hate, Cherry. That's what I want to get away from!"

"I don't see how things would be different anywhere else."

Dan stood before the window, a mutinous figure. He rubbed his hands through his hair, pushing the locks away.

"Oh, I suppose you're right. But, Lord! I wish something would come along to stir things up. I'm not used to this sort of life. I've always pushed on somewhere else when things got too tame."

The girl said nothing. Phillips turned and saw her brush her eyes with a handkerchief. He crossed the room and put a hand on her shoulder.

"Listen, honey," he said. "You know I didn't mean to hurt your feelings. Why, I wouldn't do that for the world! Just forget I said anything. I'm just a tramp. I guess—a no-good who doesn't realize when he's well off. You won't think any more about it, will you, Cherry? Promise me you won't!"

"But, I want you to be happy, Dan!"

His arms were around her. "Why shouldn't I be happy? I've got you, haven't I? Say, I guess I'm just about the luckiest guy on earth. And don't think I don't realize it! That crabbiness doesn't mean anything. Come on—I'll help with the dishes!"

He was unusually cheerful throughout the rest of the evening. After they had finished the kitchen work they rode down town to see a motion picture. Dan talked more than usual. It was only occasionally that he seemed to forget and lapsed into silence. Then Cherry saw the brooding look return to his face.

She could not persuade herself that whatever was troubling him had vanished so easily.

If Dan was worried he gave no indication of it during the next few days. He was punctual at meals, talked of his work and seemed interested in Cherry's recital of each day's events.

There were more letters from

Cherry's mother. Mrs. Dixon reported she had gained four pounds. She and her husband were considering a drive into Maine with some friends for a short stay. The letters consisted chiefly of trivial bits of news. There had been a touch of hot weather but now it was gone. Mrs. Dixon hoped Cherry and Dan were both well.

There was a card from Dixie Shannon, bearing a Canadian postmark. Dixie wrote that she was having a glorious vacation and would be sorry to return home.

August proved to be as agreeable as July had been hot and unpleasant. Cherry, reading in newspaper society columns that Gretchen Alden and her mother were extending their stay at Lake Louise, that other acquaintances were summering at Newport, attending the race meet at Saratoga or visiting distant resorts, was not the least envious.

Her life settled into an agreeable calm. Dan, to his amazement, received the long expected raise in salary. It meant $5 a week added to the scanty household budget. They celebrated with a dinner at the Willington that took the entire first week's $5.

Then on a Thursday evening Dan arrived home excitedly. "Cherry!" he cried as he pushed the door open, "you can't guess what's happened!"

She hurried from the kitchen. "No, of course I can't," she said. "What is it?"

"Say—wait till you hear! Boy, did I run into luck today! It's the chance I've been looking for—"

"For heaven's sake, Dan Phillips stand still a minute and tell me what you're talking about!"

He caught her by the shoulders and held her away from him. "What would you say," he began, "if I told you that one of the best magazine writers in the country has promised to read those short stories your boy friend wrote, has promised to criticize them and help him find a market?"

"Oh, Dan—really? Why, that's wonderful! Who is he, Dan? How did it happen?"

Phillips drew himself up in mock dignity. "It's like this, lady," he began. "I was walking down the street—"

"Stop it this minute!" Cherry insisted. "And tell me what's really happened. Who is this writer and how did you meet him?"

"It's not a 'he,'" Dan told her. "It's a 'her.' Brenda Vall—ever read anything of hers? To tell the truth neither have I but she's one of the big shots." He rattled off the names of a half-dozen magazines to which Brenda Vall had contributed. "She's here on business. Something about some land she owns and wants to sell. Rogers usually does all the literary interviews, you know, but he's on vacation. I didn't have much to do this afternoon and Bates sent me over to talk to Miss Vall. It seems that years ago when she was a kid she had an aunt who lived here. She—I mean Miss Vall, not the aunt—used to spend part of the summers here. It made a pretty fair feature about the famous author coming back to the scene of her childhood—but that's not the important part!"

"We got to talking about writing. She's—oh, she's marvelous! The minute you see her you know you're not meeting an ordinary person. She has beautiful red hair and big, sort of gray-green eyes—I don't know how to describe her exactly. There's something about her, though, that's different from other people. She wanted to know if I'd ever written anything except newspaper stuff and when I said I'd tried but hadn't been able to sell anything she asked me if she could see one of my stories. Said she'd read it and maybe she could advise me where to send it. Can you imagine that? A writer like Brenda Vall going to all that trouble for someone she's never seen before!"

Cherry had been listening intently. "It's fine, Dan!" she assured him. "What are you going to take?"

"Why, I thought I'd show her that yarn about the kids in juvenile court—the one I called 'Kemp's Crime.' Nobody else has seen it. I figured there might be a sort of a jinx on the other story. The one that came back after I sent it out. Miss Vall said if I'd bring it over to the hotel tonight she'd read it."

"You're going to take it to her tonight?"

"Sure. You see I don't know how long she'll be in town. It depends on this business deal, she says. Gosh, Cherry, suppose she likes my story! Wouldn't that be great? You see she knows a lot of editors and she might be able to put in a word for me! You know just sort of—well, ask them to give me a chance!"

"She should like it, Dan. It's a fine story!"

Phillips grinned. "Oh, you're prejudiced," he said, "but if Brenda Vall thinks I can write, believe me, I'll show them!"

Dinner was over hastily. Dan spent an hour dressing with scrupulous attention to detail. He put on the suit that had just come from the cleaners. It was the gray tweed, the most becoming one he owned. He selected a blue tie and knotted it meticulously.

Cherry teased him as he stood before the mirror, trying to make his hair lay the way he wanted it. "Anyone would think you were calling on your first sweetheart," she told him.

"Say, I guess you know what this means to me!"

"Of course I do, Dan." She touched his arm gently. "It means a lot to me, too. But I'm so sure of you, Dan, I don't need a Miss Vall to tell me you're going to be a great author!"

He laughed at her, kissed her hastily and was gone.

Brenda Vall adjusted the shoulder of her black lace frock. It was a very low cut frock, designed for sophisticated surroundings. She touched the stopper from a slender perfume bottle to the lobes of her ears and to her lips. Then she stepped back, surveying herself in the mirror.

The effect must have been satisfying. She was a tall, rather slender woman. The black of the dress contrasted strikingly with the mass of auburn hair that waved about her face and was fastened in a knot low on her neck. There was too much of that hair for the sleek, fashionable outline but it was undoubtedly distinctive. Brenda Vall was not beautiful. There was about her, however, a manner that invariably brought her attention. Perhaps it was the craving Brenda Vall herself had for attention.

She selected exotic costumes, wore her glorious hair in a way that was definitely not fashionable, challenged the world to look at her—and it did!

There came a ring from the telephone in the next room. Miss Vall hurried forward.

"Yes?" she said crisply. Immediately her voice changed. "Oh, it's you! The words came softly. "Yes, of course. I've been waiting for you. Won't you come up?"

The room had been furnished as a living room. Hastily Brenda Vall pulled a small chair nearer the chaise longue that stood near the window. She adjusted the pillows, stepped back and eyed them critically.

A moment later she was opening the door.

"Good evening, Mr. Phillips," she smiled. "It's so good of you to come. I've been wondering what I was to do with myself this whole lonely evening. Won't you come in?"

Dan entered. He seemed a trifle embarrassed. "I hope you don't mind," he said, "I took you at your word and brought that story for you to read."

"But I'm delighted! Here—won't you take this chair? You'll find cigarettes in the box. That's right. Make yourself comfortable."

She sank to the chaise longue, laid the manuscript casually on a table behind her.

Miss Vall raised a cigarette in a long ebony holder to her lips and expelled a curling wreath of smoke. The gray-green eyes narrowed.

"Later," she said, "I'll read your story. Just now I'm interested in you. You know, Mr. Phillips, I think I like you very much."

Begin Drilling On Wildcat At Capistrano

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 22.—Drilling operations have started on the wildcat well of the Mineral Exploration company of Los Angeles on the Echenique ranch southeast of San Juan Capistrano.

The drill site is about two miles east of the two wells drilled several years ago by O. K. Carr, of Santa Ana. The company has a large tract of land under lease and expects to make a thorough test of the district.

A permit for the well was issued this week by the state division of oil and gas.

LACK PROTESTS ON BUDGET FOR BEACH SCHOOL

NEWPORT BEACH, July 22.—No last protests on the proposed budget of the Newport Beach elementary school were made at the public hearing held at the local schoolhouse last evening.

The proposed expenditures total $33,200.

One teacher has been eliminated as the domestic science classes were cut out as an economy measure.

No change is to be made in the salaries of the teachers but the automatic advance will not be in operation this year, which virtually makes a salary cut.

The school building is being repaired. The work is expected to be completed within the next two weeks, according to C. H. Shook, clerk of the school board.

All members of the board were present, Mrs. Rita Patton, C. H. Shook and C. H. Way.

SAN CLEMENTE GAS LINE WORK STARTS

SAN CLEMENTE, July 22.—Work has started on the construction of the two miles of 12-inch main of the Southern Counties Gas company in San Clemente. Three Spanish village workers are working on the line, water mains and the old four-inch gas main.

W. A. Ayer, city engineer, who will supervise the construction for the Spanish village, has surveyed the line where the pipe will be laid. The line will run from the northern city limits to the Roy Divil building. A 12-inch main has already been laid from the Divil block to the San Diego county line. Ayer says that 12 San Clemente men will soon be at work.

A ditch digger is expected to start work today or tomorrow. It is estimated that the work will take at least a month and will cost $20,000.

HONOR PASTOR AND FAMILY AT CHURCH AFFAIR

GARDEN GROVE, July 22.—A reception was held in the social hall of the Methodist Episcopal church Wednesday evening in honor of the new pastor, the Rev. Grover Ralston, and family, who were recently transferred here from Yorba Linda.

Mr. M. Merrill was in charge of the program and announced the numbers. The program opened with a song by the congregation followed by prayer by the Rev. D. L. Moody, Dr. P. M. Magnuson, of the Methodist church, and the Rev. Elmer E. Lyons, pastor of the Baptist church, gave speeches of welcome. The Rev. Mr. Ralston responded and introduced members of his family.

A trio consisting of Miss Mary Velle and Hazel Buckley of Santa Ana, and Robert Dosier, sang, "Bells of St. Mary," and "Dawn's Awakening." They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Charles G. Nalle of Santa Ana. Mrs. Wayne Holt, Mrs. Irvine German and Mrs. Ralph Chaffee sang "Old Uncle Moon," accompanied at the piano by John Pearson. A trumpet solo, "Holy City," was played by A. D. Brownell, accompanied at the piano by his daughter, Miss Valena Brownell. Mr. Brownell and his son, Arthur, played a trumpet duet, "The Wayfarer," by Holmes.

Baskets of lovely summer flowers were used for decorations.

During the social hour refreshments of cake and punch were served to nearly 100 members and friends.

Orange Juice To Be Served Editors In Mission City

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 22.—Members of the Capistrano Woman's club will act as official hostesses on the occasion of the visit of the National Editorial association, the afternoon of July 27. Present plans of the N.E.A. call for a stay of two hours in the mission town, enroute from Los Angeles to San Diego.

Arrangements have been made by Carl Hankey with the Santiago Orange Growers' association, for the supplying of oranges enough to serve the 500 visitors who are expected when the editors of the country and their friends stop over in San Juan Capistrano. The fruit will be converted into juice and iced. W. H. Coad, of Coad's Drug store, will provide paper cups for the serving, and the members of the Woman's club will arrange for the serving of the tea and orange juice and also for an appropriate program of music and songs to be given by the young people of the community.

The Rev. Father St. John O'Sullivan has offered to open the mission to the visitors and beneath the age old arches of the mission building the editors of the country will be given a glimpse of traditional California hospitality. Mrs. E. M. Niss, president of the Woman's club, will act as official hostess and with her committee will greet the visitors and show them through the mission.

Brea Lions Serve Juice To Visitors

BREA, July 22.—Over 150 of the visiting Lions at the International convention now convened in Los Angeles and their wives made a short visit to Brea's civic center yesterday afternoon en route to Santa Ana and other Orange county towns. A group of young women in Spanish costumes served orange juice to the visitors under the direction of W. A. Culp and the Rev. Donald F. Gaylord.

The young women serving were the Misses Sally Culp, Jimmie Dean McCabe, Helen Hay, Jana Bennett, Grace Glazier, Maxine Massey, Doris Massey, Myra May, Eleanor Angle, Winnie Crabbill, Blanche Crabbill, Ellen Bush, Cortez Jackson, Gladys Jackson, Isabel Hennessey, Joy Belche, Frances Frye, Katherine Fanning and Betty Rose, S. S. (Shorty) Smith and his "gang," Jack Stewart, Kenneth Reynolds, Bob Close, Bob Angie, Paul Woodward, Ray Thompson and Stanley Logston furnished music.

EXCHANGE SHIPS 16 CARS LEMONS IN SEVEN DAYS

FULLERTON, July 22.—Lemons, shipped by the Northern Orange County Citrus exchange to eastern markets, are bringing peak prices of the season this week, selling from $8 to $11 a box, according to records of the exchange revealed by George Crawford, manager, today.

Extra good weather conditions are responsible, according to Crawford, and the result is that the produce on lemons is withdrawn in the exchange, because of shortage of crop, and the fruit is moving fast for all surplus on tracks and in storage was sent east. The exchange marketed 17 cars the past seven days.

Two hundred and nine cars of Valencia oranges were shipped from all houses of the northern county, including 183 from the exchange houses, Fullerton Mutual, Orangeville, Placentia and Fullerton branches of the Placentia Orange Growers, Edgington, La Habra Citrus, Yorba Linda Citrus, Placentia Mutual, Bradford Brothers and Cooperative, the last three of Placentia. Twenty-seven cars were shipped by Withers Brothers and by the American Fruit Growers.

Failure of all growers to cooperate in protecting the large Valencia crop is probably responsible for the market dropping from 15 to 20 cents a box, Crawford asserted.

Besides the 16 cars of lemons shipped by the exchange, two cars were shipped by the independent companies.

BREA GROUP AT BALBOA FOR DAY

BREA, July 22.—Members of the Brea group of the Brea Congregational church went to Balboa Wednesday for an all-day meeting. A potluck luncheon was served to 25 in the patio.

Following the regular meeting of the Brea Knights of Pythias Tuesday evening the Pythian Sisters surprised their husbands and friends by bringing in refreshments and enjoying with them a social hour. The Pythian Sisters present were Medaimes Marie Olmsted, Eva Jarvis, Harry Winchel, Joe Davis, Lave Hearn, Irma Tremaine, E. J. Allen, Kenneth Sutcliffe, Blanche Sutcliffe, Howard Danialley, Mildred Wheeler, Victoria Ball and Lena Kinsler.

The Knights with their wives and families will hold a potluck supper at Brea picnic grounds this evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. W. D. Shaffer, who has been confined to her home with illness for six weeks, has gained in health sufficiently to take a trip to Lake Arrowhead with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. U. D. Underwood, of Moor Park, visiting at the cabin of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Thillie.

At the close of installation, the team members were each presented with a gift by the lodge, and Mrs. Solesbee presented Mrs. Ellis with a past noble grand's pin. The lodge with a set of crystal goblets from her corps of officers.

Mrs. Anderson received an enormous bouquet from her husband, John Anderson, and their children, and a lamp from her parents in congratulation. Mrs. Cornwall was presented with flowers by Mr. Cornwall and their children.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Grant and an assisting committee served refreshments at tables decorated in celebration of the Olympiad.

Post To Request Investigation Of Veterans' Pensions

SAN CLEMENTE, July 22.—Believing that the United States is paying at least $450,000,000 per annum to veterans of the Spanish-American and World wars for disabilities not incurred in the service of this nation, American Legion post No. 331 is planning to adopt a resolution requesting congress to make a complete investigation of all departments of the government that have to do with pension and disability expenditures. The Spanish village veterans favor "millions for the war disabled and not one cent for political pensions." A committee has been appointed to present a resolution asking for an investigation of the war veterans' department at the next meeting of the post.

YOUNG, OLD BIRDS KEPT UP TO SNUFF

Feed Right, says Poultryman

Here's a statement you should read—From a statement by a leading breeder of trap-nest White Leghorns at Milwaukee, Wis. "I am pleased to advise you that we are feeding NOPCO XX to all of our flocks, both young and old, every day in the year. My ducks to a NOPCO (XX) after several years of consistent feeding of cod liver oil in all of our poultry houses was due to . . . NOPCO's policy of selling biologically tested oil of proven Vitamin D." It is one of the best available NOPCO XX also had its strong appeal.

From my first feeding Mr. Brownell's birds got NOPCO XX—but let him tell it his way.

"In my experience the all-year feeding of NOPCO (XX) is well justified by the results obtained. It is one of the best investments which we make to insure the maximum return from our flocks, and to protect them by building up vitality and resistance to disease. From the very first feeding every bird on our farm receives its daily ration of NOPCO XX" (Concentrated Vitamin D).

OYSTERS FROM NEWPORT BAY ARE EXAMINED

NEWPORT BEACH, July 22.—Extensive surveys and research work are under way to determine the feasibility of establishing a new industry, oyster growing in the bay, according to Frank L. Smith, manager of the Balboa Boat Works, who is cooperating in the preliminary surveys.

Principals interested in the work are Carl Brehme, who resides at Hollister, Calif., but has business interests up and down the coast and also in Mexico, and Robert Hoffman of Monterey.

A large tug known as the "Delta" is being used by Brehme, Hoffman and officials of the fish and game commission in their research work and the large yacht "Arcadian," owned by Brehme, and stationed in the bay, is headquarters of the party while here.

Fully 20 sacks of oysters taken from the present existing beds, of which there are several, have been the nucleus for samples sent to the fish and game commission offices, and the state health offices for examination. The fish and game officials are much interested over the prospects of the new industry being established here as Californians spend $3,000,000 annually for eastern oysters.

It is expected that results from samples sent will be made known in a week and if reports are satisfactory, work will be started at once.

College Job For Yorba Linda Girl

YORBA LINDA, July 22.—Miss Helen Walker has been selected as dictation for the Girls' Collegiate school at Glendora, according to word received by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Walker.

Miss Walker was graduated from Santa Barbara Teachers' college, specializing in domestic arts, home economics and institutional management, this spring. She is well known in northern Orange county, having been graduated from the Fullerton union high school and Yorba Linda grammar school.

Week End Party For Junior Girls

LA HABRA, July 22.—The Junior Girls of the Woman's Improvement club left Thursday afternoon for a week end party at the summer home of Mrs. J. A. Akers at San Clemente.

Those making the trip were Ann Stanford, Edith McClure, Mariabel Prantz, Ruth Snow, Lovella Williams, Lenore Graham and Betty Berry. Advisors who went were Mrs. E. E. McClure, Mrs. J. I. Williams and Mrs. E. R. Berry.

Caucus Meeting of Auxiliary Slated For Next Friday

SAN CLEMENTE, July 22.—Plans have been completed by members of the San Clemente American Legion auxiliary for the fifth area caucus to be held at the Social club here July 23. More than 200 delegates are expected to attend the session. The caucus will open at 10 o'clock in the morning, a luncheon will be served at noon by the Spanish village auxiliary and the afternoon meeting will close the caucus. The meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Rowena Fultz of Santa Ana, president of the fifth area, which is comprised of the counties of Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, Imperial and San Diego.

The auxiliary held a social meeting at the home of Mrs. Earl Moore last night.

OPEN VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL IN BEACH CITY

NEWPORT BEACH, July 22.—The local Methodist church, known as the "Church Beside the Sea," is conducting a daily vacation Bible school to run four weeks, during the mornings from 9 to 11:30 o'clock with the Rev. Lawson Watkins in charge.

The Rev. Mr. Watkins has just completed a Bible school at Tusculum, David Cherry is in charge of the Junior and intermediate grade work; Mrs. John Siegel, the beginners' classes and Miss Hazel Cubbons, the primary group. Miss Cubbons is primary superintendent in the regular Sunday school.

The school is being held at the Stoll residence, 2708 Ocean Front, Newport Beach. An enrollment of 40 is reported by John Siegel, Sunday school superintendent.

Play Presented In Mesa Church On Sunday Night

COSTA MESA, July 22.—A "Shameless Jew" is the moving sermon topic of the Rev. W. L. Lowe of the Community church for July 24. The evening church worship period at 7:30 o'clock will be in charge of the young people.

The Santa Fe Springs Dramatic club of the Methodist church will give a play, which will be followed by a short sermon by the pastor. Special music is being prepared for both services. Sunday school is held at 9:45 a. m., and Epworth league at 9:30 p. m.

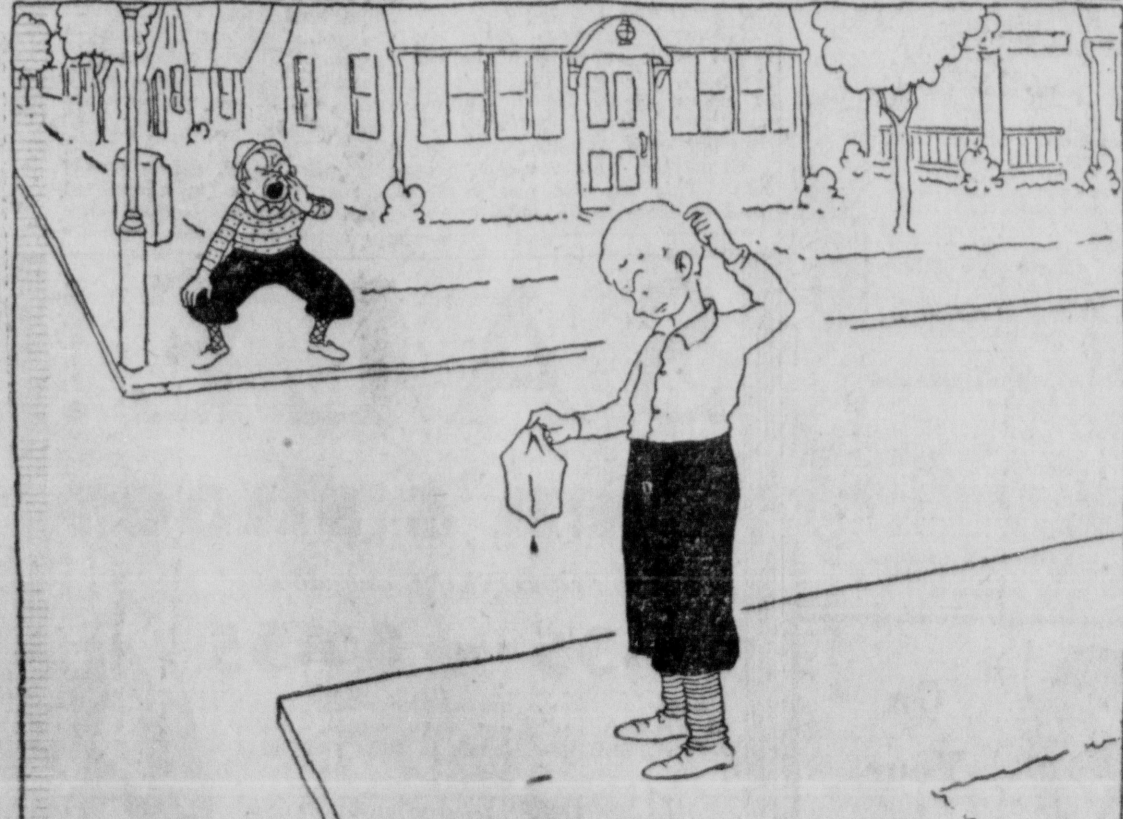

Grunion Fail To Make Appearance At San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE, July 22.—With scores of San Clemente residents on the beaches with flashlights awaiting the regular grunion run, the transparent fish refused to come ashore. Not a grunion visited the strand at the Spanish village. Many of the fishermen still do not believe that there is such a thing as grunion.

"I have caught them by the bucketful in years past," said Mayor Thomas F. Murphy, "but I am beginning to think that it was a dream."

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Cherry Dixon, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, falls in love with Dan Phillips, newspaper reporter. She quarrels with her father about Dan and the taking advantage of Leap Year, asks Dan to marry her. They are married and Cherry for the first time finds what it means to lack money. They take a cheap apartment and her struggles with housework are discouraging. Dixie Shannon, movie critic of the News, is friendly with Cherry. She meets handsome Mox Pearson, also on the News.

After several weeks Cherry's mother becomes seriously ill. The girl is called home and there is reconciliation with her parents but pride will not allow her to accept financial aid from them. When Mrs. Dixon is stronger she and her husband leave for several months at the seashore.

July brings an intense hot wave. Friends invite Cherry and Dan to a swimming party at a nearby resort. Dan is delayed at the office and Cherry sets out with Pearson in his car. A heavy rainstorm overtakes them and they seek shelter. Pearson is angry and he leaves. Later they meet up in the car and after a dangerous drive they return home.

Several days later Dan tells Cherry he is tired of the town and wants to go to New York.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXIV

Dan was beside her. "Why, no," he said in a startled voice. "That isn't what I mean at all. I wouldn't go any place without you, Cherry. You know that."

"But you said you wanted to get away from all this. I don't see how we could leave. There's the lease on the apartment."

"That's just it!" he insisted. "Leases—bills—always something to force you into a rut! That's what I hate. That's what I want to get away from!"

"I don't see how things would be different anywhere else."

Dan stood before the window, a mutinous figure. He rubbed a hand through his hair, pushing the locks away.

"Oh, I suppose you're right. But, Lord! I wish something would come along to stir things up. I'm not used to this sort of life. I've always pushed on somewhere else when things got too tame."

The girl said nothing. Phillips turned and saw her brush her eyes with a handkerchief. He crossed the room and put a hand on her shoulder.

"Listen, honey," he said. "You know I didn't mean to hurt your feelings. Why, I wouldn't do that for the world! Just forget I said anything. I'm just a tramp I guess—a no-good who doesn't realize when he's well off. You won't think any more about it, will you, Cherry? Promise me you won't!"

"But, I want you to be happy, Dan!"

His arms were around her. "Why shouldn't I be happy? I've got you, haven't I? Say, I guess I'm just about the luckiest guy on earth. And don't think I don't realize it! That crabbiness doesn't mean anything. Come on—I'll help with the dishes!"

He was unusually cheerful throughout the rest of the evening. After they had finished the kitchen work they rode down town to see a motion picture. Dan talked more than usual. It was only occasionally that he seemed to forget and lapsed into silence. Then Cherry saw the brooding look return to his face.

She could not persuade herself that whatever was troubling him had vanished so easily.

If Dan was worried he gave no indication of it during the next few days. He was punctual at meals, talked of his work and seemed interested in Cherry's recital of each day's events.

There were more letters from

Cherry's mother. Mrs. Dixon reported she had gained four pounds. She and her husband were considering a drive into Maine with some friends for a short stay. The letters consisted chiefly of trivial bits of news. There had been a touch of hot weather but now it was gone. Mrs. Dixon hoped Cherry and Dan were both well.

There was a card from Dixie Shannon, bearing a Canadian postmark. Dixie wrote that she was having a glorious vacation and would be sorry to return home.

August proved to be as agreeable as July had been hot and unpleasant. Cherry, reading in newspaper society columns that Gretchen Alden and her mother were expecting their stay at Lake Louise, that other acquaintances were summering at Newport, attending the race meet at Saratoga or visiting distant resorts, was not the least envious.

Her life settled into an agreeable calm. Dan, to his amazement, received the long expected raise in salary. It meant $5 a week added to the scanty household budget. They celebrated with a dinner at the Wellington that took the entire first week's $5.

Then on a Thursday evening Dan arrived home excitedly. "Cherry!" he cried as he pushed the door open, "you can't guess what's happened!"

She hurried from the kitchen. "No, of course I can't," she said. "What is it?"

"Say—wait till you hear! Boy, did I run into luck today! It's the chance I've been looking for—"

For heaven's sake, Dan Phillips stand still a minute and tell me what you're talking about!"

He caught her by the shoulders and held her away from him. "What would you say," he began, "if I told you that one of the best magazine writers in the country has promised to read those short stories your boy friend wrote, and promised to criticize them and help him find a market?"

"Oh, Dan—really? Why, that's wonderful! Who is he, Dan? How did it happen?"

Phillips drew himself up in mock dignity. "It's like this, lady," he began. "I was walking down the street—"

"Stop it this minute!" Cherry insisted. "And tell me what's really happened. Who is this writer and how did you meet him?"

"It's not a 'he', Dan told her. 'It's a 'her'. Brenda Vail—ever read anything of hers? To tell the truth neither have I but she's one of the big shots."

He rattled off the names of a half-dozen magazines to which Brenda Vail had contributed. "She's here on business. Something about some land she owns and wants to sell. Rogers usually does all the literary interviews, you know, but he's on vacation. I didn't have much to do this afternoon and Bates sent me over to talk to Miss Vail. It seems that years ago when she was a kid she had an aunt who lived here. She—I mean Miss Vail, not the aunt—used to spend part of the summers here. It made a pretty fair feature about the famous author coming back to the scene of her childhood—but that's not the important part!"

"We got to talking about writing. She's—oh, she's marvelous! The minute you see her you know you're not meeting an ordinary person. She has beautiful red hair and big, sort of gray-green eyes—I don't know how to describe her exactly. There's something about her, though, that's different from other people. She wanted to know if I'd ever written anything except newspaper stuff and when I said I'd tried but hadn't been able to sell anything she asked me if she could see one of my stories. Said she'd read it and maybe she could advise me where to send it. Can you imagine that? A writer like Brenda Vail going to all that trouble for someone she'd never seen before?"

Cherry had been listening intently. "It's fine, Dan!" she assured him. "What are you going to take?"

"Why, I thought I'd show her that yarn about the kids in juvenile court—the one I called 'Kempy's Crime.' Nobody else has seen it. I figured they might be sort of a jinx on the other story. The one that came back after I sent it out. Miss Vail said if I'd bring it over to the hotel tonight she'd read it."

"You're going to take it to her tonight?"

"Sure. You see I don't know how long she'll be in town. It depends on this business deal, she says. Gosh, Cherry, suppose she likes my story! Wouldn't that be great? You see she knows a lot of editors and she might be able to put in a word for me! You know just sort of—well, ask them to give me a chance!"

"She should like it, Dan. It's a fine story!"

Phillips grinned. "Oh, you're prejudiced," he said, "but if Brenda Vail thinks I can write, believe me, I'll show them!"

Dinner was over hastily. Dan spent an hour dressing with scrupulous attention to detail. He put on the suit that had just come from the cleaners. It was the gray tweed, the most becoming one he owned. He selected a blue tie and knotted it meticulously.

Cherry teased him as he stood before the mirror, trying to make his hair lay the way he wanted it. "Anyone would think you were calling on your first sweetheart," she told him.

"Say, I guess you know what this means to me!"

"Of course I do, Dan." She touched his arm gently. "It means a lot to me, too. But I'm so sure of you, Dan, I don't need a Miss Vail to tell me you're going to be a great author!"

He laughed at her, kissed her hastily and was gone.

Brenda Vail adjusted the shoulder of her black lace frock. It was a very low cut frock, designed for sophisticated surroundings. She touched the stopper from a slender perfume bottle to the lobes of her ears and to her lips. Then she stepped back, surveying herself in the mirror.

The effect must have been satisfying. She was a tall, rather slender woman. The black of the dress contrasted strikingly with the mass of auburn hair that waved about her face and was fastened in a knot low on her neck. There was too much of that hair for the sleek, fashionable outline but it was undoubtedly distinctive. Brenda Vail was not beautiful. There was about her, however, a manner that invariably brought her attention. Perhaps it was the craving Brenda Vail herself had for attention.

She selected exotic costumes, wore her glorious hair in a way that was definitely not fashionable, challenged the world to look at her—and it did!

There came a ring from the telephone in the next room. Miss Vail hurried forward.

"Yes?" she said crisply. Immediately her voice changed. "Oh, it's you!" The words came softly. "Yes, of course. I've been waiting for you. Won't you come up?"

The room had been furnished as a living room. Hastily Brenda Vail pulled a small chair nearer the chaise longue that stood near the window. She adjusted the pillows, stepped back and eyed them critically.

A moment later she was opening the door.

"Good evening, Mr. Phillips," she smiled. "It's so good of you to come. I've been wondering what I was to do with myself this whole lonely evening. Won't you come in?"

Dan entered. He seemed a trifle embarrassed. "I hope you don't mind," he said, "I took you at your word and brought that story for you to read."

"But I'm delighted! Here—won't you take this chair? You'll find cigarettes in the box. That's right. Make yourself comfortable."

She sank to the chaise longue, laid the manuscript casually on a table behind her.

Miss Vail raised a cigaret in a long ebony holder to her lips and expelled a curling wreath of smoke. The gray-green eyes narrowed.

"Later," she said, "I'll read your story. Just now I'm interested in you. You know, Mr. Phillips, I think that I like you very much."

New Officers Are Installed By Native Daughters

150 ATTRACTED TO PROGRAM OF GRACE PARLOR

FULLERTON, July 22.—Before a group of distinguished officers, members of six parlors of the order, and about 150 guests and members of the home parlor, officers for Grace parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, were installed at an impressive ceremony last night by Mrs. Mary Norenburg, deputy grand president of Grace parlor, and her corps of officers at Odd Fellows' hall.

The newly elected officers all were dressed in long white dresses and wore corsages of gardenias. Installing officers were dressed in evening gowns and wore corsages of gladioli.

Distinguished officers were Mrs. Norenburg, of Hollywood; Mrs. Hazel Hansen, of Verdugo parlor, Glendale, grand outside sentinel, and Mrs. Ora M. Evans, district deputy grand president of Grace parlor last year, a member of California parlor.

Another guest of distinction was Miss Grace Stoermer, founder of Fullerton parlor, and after whom it is named. Miss Stoermer is past grand president of California grand parlor and a member of Los Angeles parlor.

Mrs. Mattie Edwards, Placentia, was installed past president; Mrs. Lena Aspen, Anaheim, president; Mrs. Rebecca Hansen, Placentia, first vice president; Miss Gladys Edwards, Placentia, second vice president; Mrs. Christine Dunham, Placentia, third vice president; Mrs. Erna Watts, Fullerton, marshal; Mrs. Lula Forbes, Brea, outside sentinel; Mrs. Vincenta Carlton, Anaheim, inside sentinel; Mrs. Lena Wagner, Mrs. Christine McFarland, Placentia, and Miss Ida Matter, Fullerton, trustees; Mrs. Mary Rothamel, recording secretary; Mrs. Dora Trendle, Fullerton, financial secretary; Mrs. Nellie Cline, Placentia, treasurer, and Miss Betty Enfield, Placentia, organist.

Following the ceremony, for which Mrs. C. E. Halber, of Placentia, played, Marybelle Chapman, of Hollywood, sang three Spanish numbers, accompanying herself at the piano.

Gifts of flowers were offered Mrs. Norenburg, Miss Stoermer, Mrs. Hansen, Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Cline presented Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Frank Hill presented Mrs. Edwards with other gifts. Mrs. Edwards received a past president's pin. Miss Stoermer was given a special gift, also.

Grace parlor was organized in 1927 and Mrs. Cline was first president. After her, Mrs. A. L. Anderson served a year; Mrs. Luciana McFadden, a year; Mrs. Carrie Ford a year, and Mrs. Edwards a year.

Last night, San Diego, California, San Pedro, Glendale, Long Beach, and Santa Ana parlors were represented at the meeting.

On August 4, Fullerton Grace parlor will assist Mrs. Cline at installation ceremony of officers of Long Beach parlor, of which Mrs. Cline is deputy grand president.

Following the adjournment, Mrs. Hansen, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Lawrence Lemke, Miss Edwards, Miss Dora Zepf and Mrs. Kathleen Tuffree served refreshments.

Mrs. Aspen announced her hostess committee for August as Mrs. Rothamel, Mrs. Mary Annin, Mrs. Ellen Andrade, Mrs. Emma Allen,

Begin Drilling On Wildcat At Capistrano

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 22.—Drilling operations have started on the wildcat well of the Mineral Exploration company of Los Angeles on the Echenique ranch southeast of San Juan Capistrano.

The drill site is about two miles east of the two wells drilled several years ago by O. K. Carr, of Santa Ana.

The company has a large tract of land under lease and expects to make a thorough test of the district.

A permit for the well was issued this week by the state division of oil and gas.

LACK PROTESTS ON BUDGET FOR BEACH SCHOOL

NEWPORT BEACH, July 22.—No last protests on the proposed budget of the Newport Beach elementary school were made at the public hearing held at the local schoolhouse last evening.

The proposed expenditures total $33,300.

One teacher has been eliminated as the domestic science classes were cut out as an economy measure.

No change is to be made in the salaries of the teachers but the automatic advance will not be in operation this year, which virtually makes a salary cut.

The school building is being repaired. The work is expected to be completed within the next two weeks, according to C. H. Shook, clerk of the school board.

All members of the board were present, Mrs. Rita Patton, C. H. Shook and C. H. Way.

SAN CLEMENTE GAS LINE WORK STARTS

SAN CLEMENTE, July 22.—Work has started on the construction of the two miles of 12-inch main of the Southern Counties Gas company in San Clemente. Three Spanish village workers are locating electric lines, water mains and the old four-inch gas main.

W. A. Ayer, city engineer, who will supervise the construction for the Spanish village, has surveyed the line where the pipe will be laid. The line will run from the northern city limits to the Roy Divil building. A 12-inch main has already been laid from the Divil block to the San Diego county line. Ayer says that 12 San Clemente men will soon be at work.

A ditch digger is expected to start work today or tomorrow. It is estimated that the work will take at least a month and will cost $20,000.

HONOR PASTOR AND FAMILY AT CHURCH AFFAIR

GARDEN GROVE, July 22.—A reception was held in the social hall of the Methodist Episcopal church Wednesday evening in honor of the new pastor, the Rev. Grover Halston, and family, who were recently transferred here from Yorba Linda.

M. M. Morrill was in charge of the program and announced the numbers. The program opened with a song by the congregation followed by prayer by the Rev. D. L. Moody, Dr. P. M. Magnusson, of the Methodist church, and the Rev. Elmer E. Lyons, pastor of the Baptist church, gave speeches of welcome. The Rev. Mr. Halston responded and introduced members of his family.

A trio consisting of Miss Mary Nalle and Hazel Stuckey of Santa Ana, and Robert Doster, sang, "Bells of St. Mary" and "Dawn's Awakening." They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Charles G. Nalle of Santa Ana. Mrs. Wayne Holt, Mrs. Irvine German and Mrs. Ralph Chaffee sang "Old Uncle Moon," accompanied at the piano by John Pearson. A trumpet solo, "Holy City," was played by A. D. Brownell, accompanied at the piano by his daughter, Miss Valera Brownell. Mr. Brownell and his son, Arthur, played a trumpet duet, "The Wayfarer," by Holmes.

Baskets of lovely summer flowers were used for decorations.

During the social hour refreshments of cake and punch were served to nearly 100 members and friends.

Orange Juice To Be Served Editors In Mission City

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 22.—Members of the Capistrano Woman's club will act as official hostesses on the occasion of the visit of the National Editorial association, the afternoon of July 27. Present plans of the N.E.A. call for a stay of two hours in the mission town, enroute from Los Angeles to San Diego.

Arrangements have been made by Carl Hankey with the Santiago Orange Growers' association, for the supplying of oranges enough to serve the 500 visitors who are expected when the editors of the country and their friends stop over in San Juan Capistrano. The fruit will be converted into juice and lead. W. H. Coad, of Coad's Drug store, will provide paper cups for the serving, and the members of the Woman's club will arrange for the serving of the local orange juice and also for an appropriate program of music and songs to be given by the young people of the community.

The Rev. Father St. John O'Sullivan has offered to open the mission to the visitors and beneath the age old arches of the mission building the editors of the country will be given a glimpse of traditional California hospitality. Mrs. E. M. Nise, president of the Woman's club, will act as official hostess and with her committee will greet the visitors and show them through the mission.

Brea Lions Serve Juice To Visitors

BREA, July 22.—Over 150 of the visiting Lions at the International convention now convened in Los Angeles and their wives made a short visit to Brea's civic center yesterday afternoon en route to Santa Ana and other Orange county towns. A group of young women in Spanish costumes served orange juice to the visitors under the direction of W. A. Culp and the Rev. Donald P. Gaylord.

The young women serving were the Misses Sally Culp, Jimmie Dean McCabe, Helen Hay, Jane Bennett, Grace Glazier, Maxine Massey, Doris Massey, Myra May, Eleanor Angle, Winnie Crabill, Blanche Crabill, Ellen Bush, Cortes Jackson, Gladys Jackson, Isabel Hennessey, Joy Belche, Frances Frye, Katharine Fanning and Betty Ross. S. S. (Shorty) Smith and his "gang," Jack Stewart, Kenneth Reynolds, Bob Cline, Bob Angie, Paul Woodard, Ray Thompson and Stanley Legston furnished music.

EXCHANGE SHIPS 16 CARS LEMONS IN SEVEN DAYS

FULLERTON, July 22.—Lemons, shipped by the Northern Orange County Citrus exchange to eastern markets, are bringing peak prices of the season this week, selling from $8 to $11 a box, according to records of the exchange revealed by George Crawford, manager, today.

Extra good weather conditions are responsible, according to Crawford, and the result is that the orange on lemons is withdrawn in the exchange because of shortage of crop, and the fruit is moving fast for all surplus on tracks and in storage was sent east. The exchange marketed 17 cars the past seven days.

Two hundred and nine cars of Valencia oranges were shipped from all houses of the northern county, including 132 from the exchange houses, Fullerton Mutual, Orange Grove, the Placentia and Fullerton branches of the Placentia Orange Growers' Association, La Habra Citrus, Yorba Linda Citrus, Placentia Mutual, Bradford Brothers and Cooperative, for the last three of Placentia. Twenty-seven cars were shipped by Withers Brothers and by the American Fruit Growers.

Failure of all growers to cooperate in protecting the large Valencia crop is probably responsible for the market dropping from 15 to 20 cents a box, Crawford asserted.

Besides the 16 cars of lemons shipped by the exchange, two cars were shipped by the independent companies.

BREA GROUP AT BALBOA FOR DAY

BREA, July 22.—Members of the Woman's guild of the Brea Congregational church went to Balboa Wednesday for an all-day meeting. A potluck luncheon was served to 25 in the patio.

Following the regular meeting of the Brea Knights of Pythias Tuesday evening the Pythian Sisters surprised their husbands and friends by bringing in refreshments and enjoying with them a social hour. The Pythian Sisters present were Mesdames Marie Olmsted, Eva Jarvis, Harry Whitchel, Joe Davis, Lave Hearn, Irma Tremaine, E. J. Allen, Kenneth Suttill, Blanche Suttill, Howard Danialley, Mildred Wheeler, Victoria Ball and Lena Kinsler.

The Knights with their wives and families will hold a potluck supper at Brea picnic grounds this evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. W. D. Shaffer, who has been confined to her home with illness for six weeks, has gained in health sufficiently to take a trip to Lake Arrowhead with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. U. D. Underwood, of Moor Park, visiting at the cabin of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Thille.

INSTALLATION CONDUCTED BY REBEKAH LODGE

FULLERTON, July 22.—Before an audience of 200, newly elected officers of Fullerton Rebekah lodge were installed at an impressive ceremony Wednesday night by Mrs. Marie Falcke and her staff of 22 officers in the Odd Fellows' hall, where Mrs. Jessie Anderson was seated as noble grand.

Other new officers are Mrs. Violet Cornwall, vice noble grand; Mrs. Ellen Woodward, secretary; Miss Lois Cooper, financial secretary; Mrs. Helen Zinke, treasurer; Miss Lois Jewel, warden; Mrs. Hazel Gillison, conductor; Mrs. Ellen Chapman; Mrs. Rosa Alene Agnew, musician; Mrs. Olive Patton, right supporter to noble grand; Mrs. Mary Schalley, left supporter to noble grand; Mrs. Jennie Annin, right supporter to vice grand; Mrs. Amanda French, left supporter to vice grand; Mrs. Freida Jackson, inside guardian; Mrs. Sade Grana, outside guardian; Mrs. Nellie Goodrich, right altar supporter; and Mrs. Nannie Cooper, left altar supporter.

Retiring officers are Mrs. Mabel Ellis, noble grand; Mrs. Jessie Anderson, vice noble grand; Mrs. Woodward, recording secretary; Miss Cooper, financial secretary; Mrs. Zinke, treasurer; Mrs. Villet Cornwall, warden; Mrs. Freida Jackson, conductor; Mrs. Iona Lathrop, chaplain; Mrs. Rosa Lewis, musician; Mrs. Hazel Solesbee, right supporter to noble grand; Mrs. Clara Shill, left supporter to noble grand; Mrs. Olive Patton, right supporter to vice grand; Mrs. Ruth Holcroft, left supporter to vice grand; Mrs. Helene Nye, inside guardian; Mrs. Emma Vest, outside guardian; Mrs. Nellie Goodrich, right altar supporter; and Mrs. Evelyn Cobb, left altar supporter.

Mrs. Falcke, who was gowned in pink chiffon, was assisted by an escort of 12 women, dressed alike in white crepe gowns, and carrying batons with ribbon bows. Mrs. May Mansberger, marshal of the installing team, wore green chiffon. Other installing officers wore pastel shaded gowns, and each, except the escorts, wore corsage bouquets.

At the close of installation, the team members were each presented with a gift by the lodge, and Mrs. Solesbee presented Mrs. Ellis with a past noble grand's pin from the lodge with a set of crystal goblets from her corps of officers.

Mrs. Anderson received an enormous bouquet from her husband, John Anderson, and their children, and a lamp from her parents in congratulation. Mrs. Cornwall was presented with flowers by Mr. Cornwall and their children.

During the ceremony, Mrs. Grana and an assisting committee served refreshments at tables decorated in celebration of the Olympiad.

Post To Request Investigation Of Veterans' Pensions

SAN CLEMENTE, July 22.—Believing that the United States is paying at least $450,000,000 per annum to veterans of the Spanish-American and World wars for disabilities not incurred in the service of this nation, American Legion post No. 331 is planning to adopt a resolution requesting congress to make a complete investigation of all departments of the government that have to do with pension and disability expenditures. The Spanish village veterans favor "millions for the war disabled and not one cent for political pensions." A committee has been appointed to present a resolution asking for an investigation of the war veterans' department at the next meeting of the post.

Here's a statement you should read—from Ambrose Brownell, breeder of trapped White Leghorns at Milwaukie, Ore.: "I am pleased to advise you that we are feeding NOPCO XX to all of our flocks, both young and old, every day of the year. My decision to adopt NOPCO (XX) after several years of constant feeding of cod liver oil in all of our poultry flocks was due to . . . (NOPCO'S) policy of selling biologically tested oil of proven Vitamin potency. The economy and availability of NOPCO XX also had its strong appeal."

From the very first feeding Mr. Brownell's birds got NOPCO XX—but let him tell it his way: "In my experience the all-year feeding of NOPCO (XX) is well justified by the results obtained. It is one of the best investments which we make to insure the maximum return from our flocks, and to protect them by building up vitality and resistance to disease. From the very first feeding every bird on our farm receives its daily ration of NOPCO XX" (Concentrated Vitamin D).

To readers this paper assures some mighty interesting information in a special letter-size folder telling "What 15 Professors of Poultry Husbandry Say About Feeding Vitamin D." If you're not a poultryman—show this ad to your neighbor who is. The folder is quite worthwhile—and sent to anyone addressing a letter to NOPCO, 465 California St., San Francisco. OYSTERS FROM NEWPORT BAY ARE EXAMINED

NEWPORT BEACH, July 22.—Extensive surveys and research work are underway by to determine the feasibility of establishing a new industry, oyster growing in the bay, according to Frank L. Smith, manager of the Balboa Boat Works, who is cooperating in the preliminary surveys.

Principals interested in the work are Carl Brehme, who resides at Hollister, Calif., but has business interests up and down the coast and also in Mexico, and Robert Hoffman of Monterey.

A large tug known as the "Delta" is being used by Brehme, Hoffman and officials of the fish and game commission in their research work and the large yacht "Arcadian," owned by Brehme, and stationed in the bay, is headquarters of the party while here.

Fully 20 sacks of oysters taken from the present existing beds, of which there are several, have been the nucleus for samples sent to the fish and game commission offices, and the state health offices for examination. The fish and game officials are much interested over the prospects of the new industry being established here as Californians spend $3,000,000 annually for eastern oysters.

It is expected that results from samples sent will be made known in a week and if reports are satisfactory, work will be started at once.

College Job For Yorba Linda Girl

YORBA LINDA, July 22.—Miss Helen Walker has been selected as dietitian for the Girls' Collegiate school at Glendora, according to word received by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Walker.

Miss Walker was graduated from Santa Barbara Teachers' college, specializing in domestic arts, home economics and institutional management, this spring.

She is well known in northern Orange county, having been graduated from the Fullerton union high school and Yorba Linda grammar school.

Week End Party For Junior Girls

LA HABRA, July 22.—The Junior Girls of the Woman's Improvement club left Thursday afternoon for a week end party at the summer home of Mrs. J. A. Akers at San Clemente.

Those making the trip were Ann Stanford, Edith McClure, Mariella Frantz, Ruth Snow, Lovilla Williams, Lenore Graham and Betty Berry. Advisors who went were Mrs. E. E. McClure, Mrs. J. Williams and Mrs. E. R. Berry.

Caucus Meeting of Auxiliary Slated For Next Friday

SAN CLEMENTE, July 22.—Plans have been completed by members of the San Clemente American Legion auxiliary for the fifth area caucus to be held at the Social club here July 29. More than 200 delegates are expected to attend the session. The caucus will open at 10 o'clock in the morning, a luncheon will be served at noon by the Spanish village auxiliary and the afternoon meeting will close the caucus.

The meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Rowena Fultz of Santa Ana, president of the fifth area, which is comprised of the counties of Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, Imperial and San Diego.

The auxiliary held a social meeting at the home of Mrs. Earl Moore last night.

OPEN VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL IN BEACH CITY

NEWPORT BEACH, July 22.—The local Methodist church, known as the "Church Beside the Sea," is conducting a daily vacation Bible school to run four weeks, during the mornings from 9 to 11:30 o'clock with the Rev. Lawson Watkins in charge.

The Rev. Mr. Watkins has just completed a Bible school at Tustin. David Cherry is in charge of the Junior and intermediate grade work; Mrs. John Siegel, the beginner's classes and Miss Hazel Cubbons, the primary group. Miss Cubbons is primary superintendent in the regular Sunday school work. John Siegel is the Sunday school superintendent.

The school is being held at the Stoll residence, 2708 Ocean Front, Newport Beach. An enrollment of 69 is reported by John Siegel, Sunday school superintendent.

Play Presented In Mesa Church On Sunday Night

COSTA MESA, July 22.—"A Shameless Jew" is the morning sermon topic of the Rev. W. L. Lowe of the Community church for July 24. The evening church worship period at 7:30 o'clock will be in charge of the young people.

The Santa Fe Springs Dramatic club of the Methodist church will give a play, which will be followed by a short sermon by the pastor. Special music is being prepared for both services. Sunday school is held at 9:45 a. m. and Epworth league at 6:30 p. m.

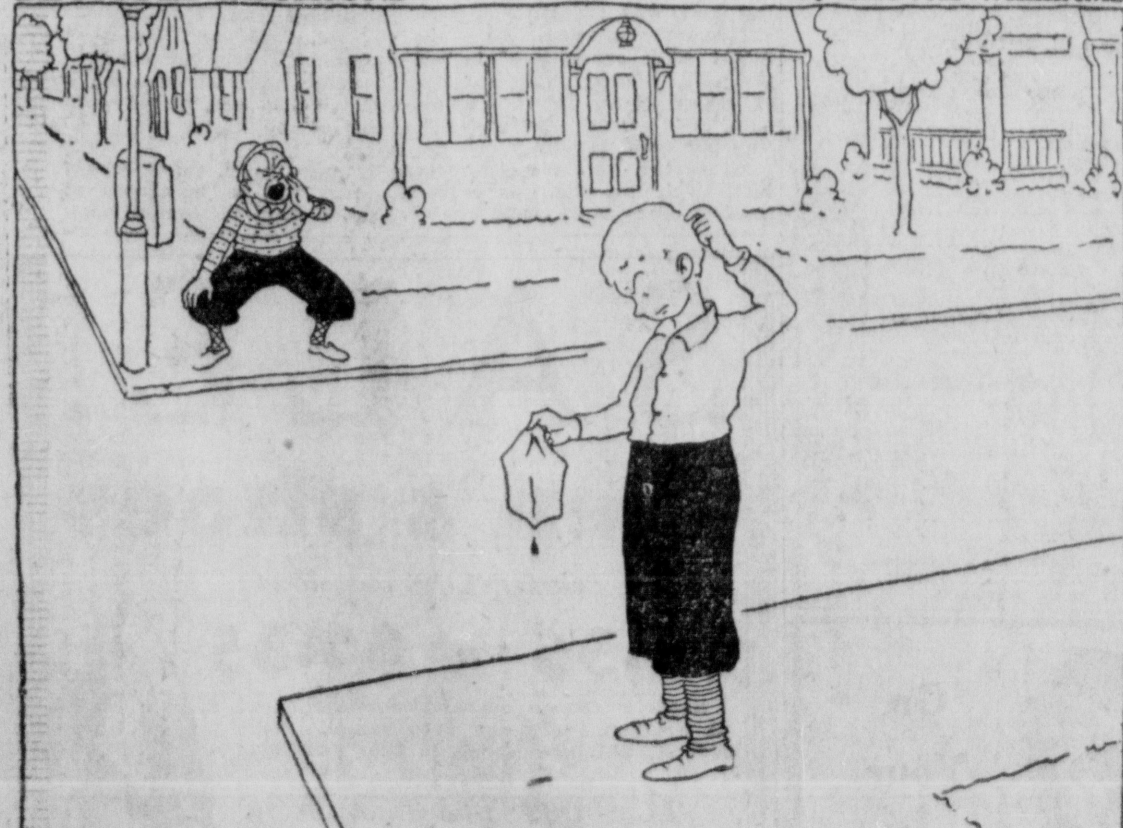

Grunion Fail To Make Appearance At San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE, July 22.—With scores of San Clemente residents awaiting the regular grunion run, the transparent fish refused to come ashore. Not a grunion visited the strand at the Spanish village. Many of the fishermen still do not believe that there is such a thing as grunion.

"I have caught them by the bucketfuls in years past," said Mayor Thomas F. Murphy, "but I am beginning to think that it was a dream."

BOOKS and SLIDES by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

Amateurism is a queer thing. About the only time it means anything is when somebody disturbs it. Then there's likely to be an awful row.

Take the Stella Walsh case. The last time I talked to Stella, she was happy with her plans to win the 100-meter dash assignment on the United States women's Olympic team, and then to go on and try for honors in the 80-meter hurdles and the discus throw.

Then she lost her job. It must have been a good job, for right away she decided she couldn't become an American citizen and compete for the United States in the Olympics without it.

Her home city of Cleveland offered her a position as instructor in the recreation department. She rejected it. Poland, the land of her birth, made an offer. She accepted.

Pro or Amateur
Does this make her a professional athlete?

Applying the rules of the national A. A. U., governing body of amateur sports in this country, she is no longer an amateur. Financial benefits influenced her decision to reject the American shield for the Polish emblem.

Not so, declares J. S. Edstrom of Sweden, who presides over the International Amateur Athletic federation. She acted entirely within her rights. The fact that she was influenced by the New York Polish consulate's offer doesn't enter into it.

Mr. Avery Brundage, national president of the A. A. U., hasn't said anything. However, he once interpreted amateurism as "that precious something that exists in the heart of the athlete and not in the rule book."

This puts another light on the case. If Miss Walsh's heart is pure, she's still an amateur.

HOME TOWN OPINIONS
Anyway, Stella's decision created a stir in Cleveland, her home from the time she was a year old. Local papers, in the sections reserved for "the voice of the people" and "letters to the editor," contained many opinions, some very pointed.

A Polish woman took pen in hand to inform the readers of one paper that she was ashamed to hear that one of her nationality rejected United States citizenship unless offered a job. "The lady declared in no uncertain terms that Uncle Sam ought to deport Stella. She even expressed the desire that some American girl with only a little bit of training (probably to make it all the more humiliating) would outrun Stella in the Olympic races. Concluding her letter, she called upon the words of the old song, 'Don't Bite the Hand That's Feeding You.'"

Another woman published her disgust with Cleveland's mayor for offering Stella a job as an inducement to become a citizen. "What about those who supported you at election and are now out of work?" she wrote.

But a man stood up for Stella. Ah, that's chivalry. Citing Miss Walsh's statement that she could not take the city job because she knew nothing about it, he urged the girl sprinter to accept.

"You surely can get by," he wrote, "for nobody in any of the city departments knows anything about this job."

STARS OPEN PENNANT DRIVE TONIGHT First Mat Show Draws 650; Marshall Victor

GAME'S STATUS HERE IN DOUBT AS INTAKE $479

Promoter Elmer Willson was undecided today whether or not to "sell" Santa Ana further on the eve of strong men of wrestling after last night's frankly disappointing attendance at the city's first outdoor mat show at the Municipal Bowl.

Approximately 600 persons paid $479 to see Everett Marshall, famed creator of the airplane spin, defeat Barney Ostrovitch in a main event that sent Ostrovitch scuttling to a doctor for treatment of a badly bruised right shoulder. Marshall won, two falls to one, using his favorite "hold" for both his falls.

The turnout, while discouraging to Willson and his associates who had conservatively estimated that 2000 would sit in on the big time program, was not quite as small as the actual figures indicated. By actual count, 557 persons saw the show without paying a red cent by peering over fences that surround the Bowl.

May Move To Delhi
This led Willson to make a semi-official announcement, that "if we decide to proceed further with wrestling in Santa Ana some different arrangement will be made," and this was taken to mean that his shows would be held in some other arena, probably the Orange County Athletic club at Delhi, or at the Bowl with some arrangement perfected to shut off the view of non-paying guests.

Nobody found fault with the show itself although the opinion was freely expressed that the right, five feet off the ground, was so high that it cramped the style of the matmen who, hardly as they were, were disinclined to take many chances of throwing each other either and yon, at least too far either and yon.

Marshall and Ostrovitch put a break ending to a show that extended from 8:20 to 11. Their main event was concluded, although it went three falls, in less than 10 minutes.

Barney Gets First Fall
Using a flying body scissors, Ostrovitch won a surprise first fall in 5 minutes and 10 seconds. Marshall wasted no time squaring the contest. He hoisted 230-pound Barney to his shoulders, spun him around like a child half a dozen times and then crashed him to the floor with a thud that sounded and looked real. Ostrovitch squirmed for a few seconds but the blond Marshall soon pinned his shoulders.

Ostrovitch appeared to be injured by the fall. He held his right shoulder as though in intense pain and was easy for Ev when they came out for the third and deciding fall which was procured by the same expediency, the airplane spin, in 40 seconds.

Less interesting of the four matches was the semi-final between Wladyslaw Zyzysko, a veteran Pole, and Harry Eklund, by many years his junior and by many pounds his inferior in size. This one was called a draw by the referee, Col. Tod Hopkins. Zyzysko won the first fall in 38 minutes, employing a marehold. Eklund won the second in 11 minutes with a crotch body slam and half nelson. They went the rest of the way to the hour time limit without a fall.

Hefner, Santen Draw
"Bull" Hefner and Charlie Santen also wrestled an hour to a draw. Santen tossed the "Bull" out of the ring twice and finally applied a double toe-hold that brought him a fall in 33 minutes and 60 seconds. Hefner showed surprising recuperative powers for a man who appeared so badly stunned. He came back and pinned Santen in 21 minutes with a reverse headlock. Neither man was able to make headway after that, and the time limit stopped them.

Hardy Kruskamp, former Ohio State football player, tossed Karl Davis in 7 minutes with a series of body tackles. This one opened the show.

Prince to Rub Muscles Of Austrian Aces

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—(UP)—Prince Ferdinand von Lichtenstein, nephew of the former king of Austria, will be massaging the muscles of his country's athletes next week as his patriotic contribution to the Olympic Games.

Prince Ferdinand is a noted European sportsman. He is an enthusiastic supporter of the Austrian team, and aided Dr. Theodor Schmidt, president of the Austrian Olympic Committee, to obtain funds for the Austrian team.

Dr. Schmidt explained to Olympic officials that hired coaches, trainers and masseurs were beyond the means of his compatriots. Because of this Dr. Schmidt and Prince Ferdinand have assumed these duties, and will start work when the members of the Austrian team arrive next Monday.

OVERTRAINING OF U. S. TRACK STARS CHARGED

By GEORGE H. BEALE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LOS ANGELES, July 22.—(UP)—Mismanagement of its own track stars was charged to the United States today as competitors of many nations went into the final stretch in their training for the 1932 Olympic Games.

Most American athletes are not properly trained and generally are overworked, Dr. Paul Martin, prominent physician and internationally known middle distance runner, told the United Press.

As an instance of an overworked runner, Dr. Martin, himself preparing to represent Switzerland in the Olympic Games for the fourth time, pointed to Frank Wykoff, of the University of Southern California.

Wykoff, consistent record breaker through the season, failed to place in the sprints finals at Palo Alto, losing out to Metcalfe, Toland and Simpson. He later was given a position on the relay team.

ALKOHOLIC OF ANAHEIM TOPS NIGHT HITTERS

Although Santa Ana's Tom Denney is the nominal leader with an average of .453 for seven games, Al Kohler, Anaheim's curly-haired third baseman and captain, is the National Night league's actual ace batsman after three quarters of championship play, averages compiled by The Register showed today.

Participating in all of Anaheim's 21 seasonal contests, Kohler has accumulated the healthy percentage of .437. He has hit safely 28 times in 37 attempts. Tied with his teammate, Phil Schrott, he also is the league's leading run-maker.

"Hen" Thiery, Olive's red-headed catcher-shortstop, is snapping at Kohler's heels with a mark of .426. "Red" Moon of Whittier is the next formidable third with .407. Next come Pete Osborn, Long Beach, and Randolph Bell, Anaheim, the latter in the midst of a sensational hitting streak which raised his average from .320 since the first fall.

There He Goes

Here is Bill Graber, of the University of Southern California, as he leaped to a new world's record pole vault of 14 feet 4 3/8 inches in the Olympic qualifications at Stanford stadium. Graber, who was intercollegiate pole vault champion in 1931 and 1932, shattered the old record of 14 feet 1 1/2 inches set by Lee Barnes, to lead Uncle Sam's vaulters in the coming Olympic Games.

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, PARIS, July 22.—(UP)—The United States earned an even break in the opening day of play in the interzone Davis Cup finals with Germany today, when Ellsworth Vines of California, defeated Daniel Prenn, 6-3, 6-3, 6-5, 6-4.

Earlier the youthful Baron Gottfried Von Gramm had defeated Frank Shields of New York, 7-5, 6-7, 6-4, 8-6.

Today's matches were witnessed by some 3000 fans.

Except in the third set, which he won at love, Prenn was completely outplayed by the American champion.

Although he was making his first appearance on the Roland Garros courts, Vines played with a sureness and coolness, as though completely oblivious of the noisy crowd.

After sweeping through the first two sets with the loss of but six games, Vines, as his custom when ahead, slackened his pace. Taking advantage of his opponent's let-down, Prenn lifted his game and ran out the set in a few minutes.

When they returned to the court for the fourth set, Vines once again moved in attack, bombarding the German ace with sizzling drives of both his forehand and backhand and steaming shots down the side-lines.

Henri Cochet, French Davis Cup star, sat in the stands, taking notes on Vines' play.

Von Gramm and Prenn will meet All-American Van Ryn in the doubles tomorrow.

Von Gramm Upsets Shields
Von Gramm, a youngster with little tournament experience, was conceded no more than a fighting chance against Shields when the two took the court. But it was the 21-year-old German who performed like a veteran. Cool and calm, he stroked the ball with a machine-like regularity and was reminiscent of Rene Lacoste.

Shields, while he played beautifully in spots, always managed to falter when vital points were at stake. The big New Yorker never did have his powerful forehand drive under control. His most serious fault was over driving.

Von Gramm spent most of his time at the baseline, resting content merely to keep the ball in play until his opponent erred.

YOUNG CRESS COMES FROM BEHIND, BEATS PARK

Characteristically coming from behind when apparently headed for defeat, John Cress, veteran Santa Ana tennis star and runner-up last year for the city singles title, won a spirited match from Don Park, 6-7, 6-3, 6-2, during yesterday's matches in the Santa Ana championship tournament at Frances Willard courts.

Gl Ward, another seeded favorite, was able to marshal his forces in time to beat Ray Dixon, 7-9, 6-3, 6-1, after dropping a long, hard first set.

Other results: Arno Flinster defeated Frank Bettis, 6-1, 6-2; Eddie West d. George Randall, 6-1, 6-1, and Glenn Eustis, default; Don Park d. George Randall, 6-3, 6-4; John Cress d. Dick Evans, 6-1, 6-4; R. E. Will d. W. C. Smith, default, and Lowell Green, 6-2, 6-1.

BARBER OUT-TALKED
DENVER, Colo.—Jess Haley, barber, found himself outtalked when he was taken to court by state-inspector William Timbel. It seems that Timbel was inspecting Haley's shop and found an unsanitary jump of alum therein. He started an argument with Haley, who, when he ran out of words, bounced a shaving mug off Timbel's head. Haley was fined $10.

Schmeling To Sail For U. S. August 15

NEW YORK, July 22.—(UP)—Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, will sail from Germany for the United States August 15 to prepare for a September bout in New York or Chicago, Bill McCorney, Schmeling's co-manager, announced today.

McCorney said bouts with Mickey Walker or Primo Carnnera here and King Levinsky, "Tuffy" Griffiths or Walker in Chicago, are considered.

ORANGE COUNTY NIGHT LEAGUE

Garden Grove, first half championship, began the second half of the Orange County Night league's split baseball campaign by turning back the improved Doheny Park club, 4 to 2, last night.

With Joe Ochso on the slab, the Parkers gave the titleholders a vigorous evening although Ray Hodgson, the Peppers' ace pitcher, had the situation well in hand throughout, allowing only four hits and fanning 15.

Irvine, runners-up to the Garden Grove outfit in the first race, defeated Huntington Beach impressively, 14 to 4. H. Sears kept the Oilers' hits scattered.

TORRANCE CLUB HERE TO BEGIN FINAL QUARTER

Santa Ana's slumping Stars hope to begin against Torrance here tonight a long sustained drive that will carry them to another National Night league baseball championship.

Three full games behind undefeated Anaheim, the Stars face the difficult necessity of recovering that much lost ground over a period of seven games. It is an improbable opportunity, but Manager George Lackaye claims it is a feat his club expects to execute.

Torrance is no easy beginner, especially since Santa Ana is in the midst of one of the most distressing batting slumps in the club's history. The Torrance team, as it now takes the field, is one of the finest in the nocturnal confederacy. Tied with Santa Ana for third place, "Spud" Murphy's colorful Spudders can finish in the first-five money if they hang a fourth straight defeat on the lugs of the faltering champions.

Anaheim Plays Westminster
While Santa Ana is meeting the improved Spudders here, the top-flight Anaheim Valencia's will be at home to Westminster. Huntington Beach will play at Long Beach, Olive at Whittier. The game here is easily the evening's standout, Anaheim being conceded victory.

Manager Lackaye announced he would use substantially the same lineup that has been dropping three games in succession but that he probably would shake up his batting order.

Joe Cornelius, who obviously needs work, will do the slinging and big "Moore" Hapes will handle his delivery because "Eeny" Wilcox is still favoring an injured finger. The only possible change in the setup would place Lennox Daley at second base instead of George Preble who was reported slightly ill today. If Daley goes into the infield, Lackaye will plant Wayne Nelson in left field.

Torrance Has New Hurler
The Torrance lineup, virtually the same as it was when Murphy's men last showed at the Bowl, has been strengthened by the addition of chunky little Roy Robinson, a pitcher of considerable experience who was with the Long Beach Aces when they were winning championships a few years ago. Robinson has won three games in a row for the revitalized Spudders and probably will draw the assignment here, although young Roy Hargis has usually been rather effective against Santa Ana and may do the pitching again.

Merv Lower will catch, with Wolf at first base; "Red" Watson, the Caltech fallback at second, Leonard at third and Storti, one of the best defensive infielders in the loop, at shortstop. Barrett, Sackett and Forney probably will do the outfielding.

The standings:

School Budget Set at $13,000

ORANGETHORPE, July 22.—At a public hearing on the Orange-thorpe school budget the budget for 1932-33 was announced at $13,000. The amount expended last year was $12,546.93.

Teachers' salaries will total $8085; other expenses of instruction, $315; library, $125; operation of school plant, $2000; maintenance, $400; capital outlays, $409.25; transportation, $1265.75.

All salaries were reduced 10 per cent. The tax rate was reduced from 45 cents to 35 cents.

BUILD GAS STATION

OCEANVIEW, July 22.—Construction of the modern structure station which Earl Talley is erecting on his property at the intersection of Huntington Beach boulevard and Wintersburg road is going forward rapidly, three workmen being employed. The building replaces a wooden structure which was moved onto the rear of the lot for use as a garage.

James Talley, eldest son of the owner, will be in charge of the station upon its completion.

THE TINIES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"Don't let that fine horse run away," exclaimed the owner. "He'll just play if you will let him race around as free as he can be."

"He loves to kick his heels up high. We'll watch now as you race rescue, lads. If anything goes rider, it will be a sight to see."

"Oh, gee! I'll do my very best," said Scouty. "Then all of the rest can also have a little ride. I don't think I'll ride long."

"Fine horses I have had before, but now I don't know what's in store. Please come right to my him by. If you're a real rough rider, it will be a sight to see."

"You bet we will, but see if you can stay on tight. It's hard to do," snapped Windy. "When you've had your turn at riding, I'll take mine."

"Then, all the points you do not know 'bout riding I will gladly show. When you see me, I know that you will say that I am fine."

Just then the horse swung round real quick and this turned out a real mean trick. It caught poor Scouty unawares and through the air he flew.

It gave the others quite a treat when he came down upon his feet. Then Scouty shouted loudly, "Well, that's one thing I can do."

The other Tinies felt that they had best pass up this sort of play. Why, even little Windy had a sudden change of mind.

"I'd rather not be tossed around," said he. "I'd flop upon the ground. Let's go into the Indian camp and see what we can find."

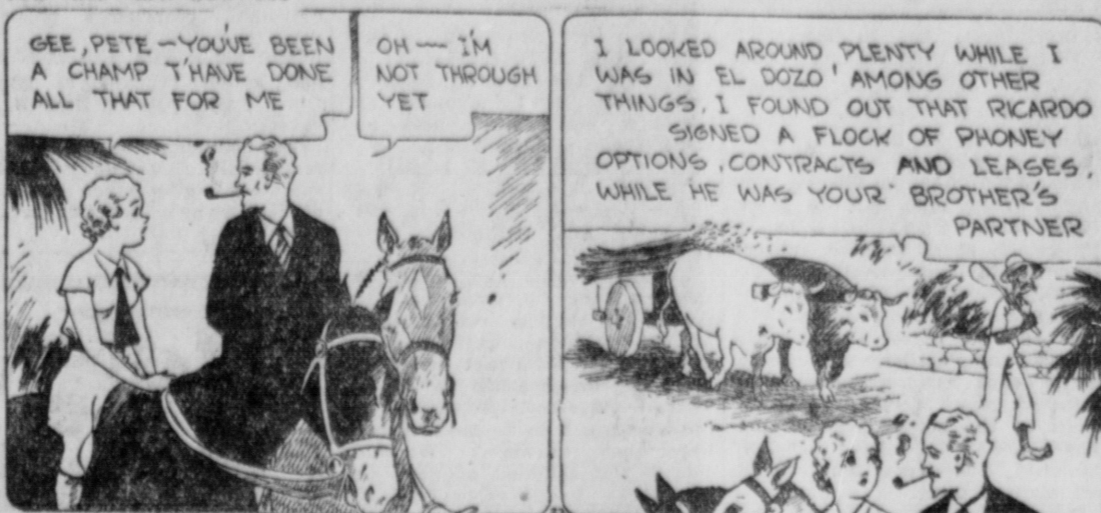

When they got there was Duncy said, "I want some feathers on my head." One of the Indians laughed at him and wildly waved his hand. He brought feathers, pretty as could be. And, as he wore them, he was called a member of the band.

BONERS

A vegetable cell is a place very dark and gloomy where green-grocers who sell bad vegetables go.

BONERS are actual humorous tid-bits found in examination papers, essays, etc., by teachers.

The chamote lives in mountainous regions, and is a wonderful leaper. It is difficult to catch. It is a pale yellow color and has to be washed carefully because it is liable to stretch.

What are the three forms in which water is found? Soft, hard and brackish. Ice, mud and snow. In fountains, dams and rivers.

Wireless waves travel at such a high frequency that it is impossible for the naked ear to detect them.

In charging storage batteries make sure that the Specific Gravity absolutely covers the plates.

BANK REPORTS MUCH ACTIVITY IN LAND SALES

"A ranch a day" is the farm sales record of the past few months by California Lands Inc., affiliated with the Bank of America, according to R. C. Raddant, manager of the Santa Ana branch of that institution.

Increased business in its sale department has necessitated the removal of its Los Angeles offices to larger quarters in the Bank of America building at Seventh and Spring streets.

Unusual interest is attached to the announcement of an organization, which under the conditions of the past year, has outgrown its former location and requires additional space in order to handle its constantly increasing sales requirements.

In a recent radio broadcast, B. B. Meek, president of California Lands Inc., said: "A lack of interest in country lands has always been evidenced during periods of large profits from stock speculation and the reverse is true when quick and easy profits in this manner are no longer in sight."

"I am not predicting a boom in California real estate, but I am stating that Californians who put their money in well located lands at a time when real estate values are relatively the cheapest they have been in a generation, will lay for themselves the basis for a real and permanent fortune."

Inventors of Gas Refrigerator Are Awarded Honors

News of the Franklin Institute awards, recently presented to 16 distinguished men of science including Baltzar Carl Von Platen and Carl Georg Munters, co-inventors of the Electrolux automatic gas refrigerator, for their pioneer work and ingenuity in the evolution of an absorption type of refrigerator, has been received here by O. E. Rutledge, district manager of the Southern Counties Gas company.

The Electrolux automatic refrigerator, which has become widely used in this country and abroad, was invented by the two Swedish youths during their last year at the Royal University of Technology in Stockholm, Sweden. The theory that ice could be made from heat, without the aid of moving parts, was not new. For more than 50 years scientists and engineers had sought to perfect such an ideal refrigerator system. And not until the Swedish youths brought forth their practical and economical principle of freezing with heat, was the theory realized.

$11,000 DAMAGES ASKED OF DAIRY

Damages totaling $11,025 were demanded of W. R. Tidball and the Excelsior Creamery of Santa Ana in a complaint filed against them in superior court by S. Katayama yesterday.

Katayama, in the complaint, charges that Tidball drove a truck in a careless and wanton manner on East Fifth street on November 11 and caused it to crash into a car driven by him. The plaintiff claimed he suffered strained ligaments in his shoulder, contusion of the chest and hip and was permanently disfigured in the accident.

Samuel P. Culley, 68, who resided in Santa Ana for four years until he moved to Long Beach recently, died of an heart attack in Long Beach Wednesday. While here he made his home with Mrs. Pope Long, 509 North Bristol street.

In addition to his daughter who lives here, Culley is survived by four sons, two other daughters and his widow. The body was taken to the Huddle and Bonnell Funeral parlors in Long Beach where funeral services will be held at a date to be announced later.

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of those who write them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

Editor, Santa Ana Register:
I have just been reading "Loads of Beer" by John B. Kennedy, published in Colliers, July 18, which is one of the many arguments in favor of beer. It estimates $300,000,000 in federal revenue, 90,000 men put to work, 50,000 motor trucks for transportation of beer, $300,000 railroad increase in transportation, $200,000,000 invested in expansion and modernization of plants, 20,000 tons of steel barrel hoops, 1,000,000 new bottles, plus labels, bottle caps and cardboard containers, plus increased employment in the selling and serving. There are a lot more "benefits" attached, but these few will do for my argument.

Who is going to pay this enormous sum? Will the ones benefitted by the sale of beer? Who pays the gasoline tax? Users. Who drinks the beer? Is it the men who can afford to drink? They are making their own, and can have all the alcohol in it they please, and the officers leave them alone, or drink with them. Sure, that's all right, a man must have his liquor, or think he must. It's just too bad to deprive him of it, and this near beer, Puh! It don't taste right nor make you feel right, besides the government had no business to expect a man to go without his liquor.

So if he has to patronize the bootlegger, it's just the government's fault. And it's also the government's fault if it's broke. The revenue from beer would pay all its debts, etc., etc., world without end.

All right, for the sake of argument, we will concede the point it's the users of gasoline who pay the gasoline tax. So it must be the users of beer who pay the beer tax. But the man who uses gas must have a car. Is the man who drinks the most beer able to own a car? Take a look—how many men who earn scant enough for their families buy beer? They don't own cars nor homes nor anything else. If their wages stop, they live off the city or county or private charity.

Yet you and I know they are the heaviest consumers, because there are more of them. Take the day laborer out of the saloons and it wouldn't pay to run them. But they can't pay the exorbitant price for bootleg, so they must do without. Consequently their children are better fed and clothed. They can pay rent more promptly. After while they don't miss it so much and better yet, their children grow up without the craving for strong drink. It isn't so handy to get, so they get along without it, consequently are decenter, more reliable citizens, homes are happier, too.

I could tell you plenty about the drink evil by my own experience. My man had his whiskey get it—not now though—it's too dangerous to drink—might cause blindness or kill him outright. Thank prohibition for rotten bootleg.

The children might do without shoes or decent clothes, but he had to have his liquor. Now he says what's the matter with the Republican party is that it gave women votes and passed the prohibition law, and they are both

Willard Dry Goods Co., Ltd.

—how many men who earn scant enough for their families buy beer? They don't own cars nor homes nor anything else. If their wages stop, they live off the city or county or private charity.

Yet you and I know they are the heaviest consumers, because there are more of them. Take the day laborer out of the saloons and it wouldn't pay to run them. But they can't pay the exorbitant price for bootleg, so they must do without. Consequently their children are better fed and clothed. They can pay rent more promptly. After while they don't miss it so much and better yet, their children grow up without the craving for strong drink. It isn't so handy to get, so they get along without it, consequently are decenter, more reliable citizens, homes are happier, too.

I could tell you plenty about the drink evil by my own experience. My man had his whiskey get it—not now though—it's too dangerous to drink—might cause blindness or kill him outright. Thank prohibition for rotten bootleg.

The children might do without shoes or decent clothes, but he had to have his liquor. Now he says what's the matter with the Republican party is that it gave women votes and passed the prohibition law, and they are both

$150,000 Expected To Be Released To County Veterans

LAW ON LOANS MODIFIED: MAY APPLY AT ONCE

The Veterans' Welfare Bureau of Orange County was prepared today to begin action toward distribution of $150,000 to some 300 veterans of the World War in Orange county for loans on one-half the value of their adjusted compensation or bonus certificates. It was revealed today by Harry Edwards, head of the veterans' bureau.

Loaning of the money to veterans was made possible through the signing of an act by President Hoover yesterday. The new law extends the same privilege to veterans who were excluded under previous legislation.

The measure, besides removing the previous requirements that two years elapse before certificates can be borrowed on, reduces the interest on bonus loans to 3 1/2 per cent from 4 1/2 per cent.

Ample notes to cover the amounts due veterans in the county are available in the welfare office, which is located in the third floor of the court house annex. Edwards expects all veterans in the county to collect, and many already had been to the office today in order to secure the loans.

Until President Hoover signed the bill yesterday, veterans who had not made application within a two-year period were not allowed to borrow on the certificates.

Director of S. A. Band Is Judge At Lions Club Contest

D. C. Clonfi, director of Santa Ana Municipal band, and prominent in Southern California music circles, was accorded an extremely distinctive honor when he was appointed to act as judge in the International Band Contest held in Los Angeles yesterday, at the 1932 convention of Lions International which has been in progress in Los Angeles during this past week.

Two other prominent Southern California musicians who acted as judges at this outstanding event with Professor Clonfi, were Director Harold W. Roberts of Los Angeles and Director Julius J. Wuerthner, head of the Lions International committee conducting band and quartet contests.

Director Clonfi has had long experience in the judging of musical performances, having served for four successive seasons as a judge at the finals of the Elstved Music Contests held annually throughout the state and nation, in company with such well known Southern California musicians as Alexander Stewart of the college of music at U. S. C. and Herbert Clarke, director of Long Beach Municipal band.

Mackrel frequently attain a speed of from 70 to 85 miles an hour, according to recent calculations.

AS B. E. F. "STORMED" CAPITOL

A threat of serious rioting hung over Washington's Capitol Hill when this picture was taken, showing stiffened police lines holding back surging thousands of bonus marchers who staged a last, despairing protest against Congress adjourning without enacting bonus legislation. Note, however, the apparent good nature of the ex-service men as they were thwarted in their efforts to throng the Capitol steps.

PLAN FEATURE FASHION SHOW IN SEPTEMBER

In cooperation with the Fox Broadway theater, the Merchants Division of the chamber of commerce will stage a metropolitan fashion show in the theater on or about September 10, it was announced today by A. Cavalli, manager of the division.

Peggy Hamilton, famous Hollywood style artist, has been invited to take charge of the fashion show. Mannikins from Hollywood, and frocks from the stocks of local merchants will be featured in the display. Well known moving picture stars have been invited to take part in the affair.

There will be a charge to the show, as a talking picture will be shown in conjunction with the fashion show.

Local merchants will be invited to display their stocks of dresses, hats and shoes.

The Merchants Division will hold its next general membership meeting August 12 at noon in the Santa Ana cafe, Manager Cavalli announced. At this meeting ballots will be distributed to members and nine new directors will be elected, in addition to a permanent chairman and vice chairman. The new officers will take office immediately, to serve for a period of one year.

Several speakers from the California State Chamber of Commerce and the Better Business Bureau of Los Angeles will be present at the meeting.

New Official Of Telephone Co. Begins Duties Here

H. E. Whipple, new district commercial supervisor for the Southern California Telephone company, has moved his family to Santa Ana to take over his new duties. His offices are in the Telephone building.

Whipple, who is living at 3210 Greenleaf street, came to Santa Ana from Pasadena, where he was assistant manager for the telephone company at that office. He has been an employee of the utility for many years.

Arrange Service In San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE, July 22.—Dr. Robert Hogarth, vicar of St. Clement's By-the-Sea, will preach on "The Children's Portion" at the 11 o'clock service at the Episcopal Community church Sunday morning. He will also deliver a talk at the 4:30 o'clock services.

Court Notes

The First National bank has brought suit against N. Bordon and Rebecca Bordon to foreclose a mortgage in order to collect $2000 claimed due on a note. The same institution is asking that property be foreclosed against Wiley G. Owen and Frances Owen, his wife, because the defendants have not paid $250 due the bank on a mortgage. The bank is asking that they be allowed to bid on the property at the sheriff's sale.

Hortense L. Langley has started suit to collect $3500 from Agatha J. Dunston et al for a mortgage on property in Laguna Beach.

F. R. Aldrich is suing Norma E. Wingood to collect the balance claimed owing on a $1750 promissory note.

A complaint to foreclose a mortgage against Fred Finuf and Lottie Finuf has been started in court by Sarah Towner Ream, formerly Sarah Towner. The defendants have not paid a $3000 promissory note, it is charged.

Henry Barnett has brought suit against his son, W. H. Barnett Jr. in a suit to correct a mistake he claimed he made when he granted title to his son for property in Huntington Beach. He claims that when he granted the title to his son he intended to reserve a life estate for himself so that he could collect the income from the property.

COURT ASKED BY THREE TO END MARRIAGE

Legal separation from their mates is asked in three complaints which were filed in superior court yesterday.

One of the complaints, filed by Sam Youngblood against his wife, Anna Sloan Youngblood, asked the court to annul his marriage to his wife because she had previously married a man named Lorenz Kopple in Tiajuana, Mexico, on June 2, 1925, while he married her in November, 1929, in Yuma, Arizona. They separated after the husband learned that she was already married.

Mildred Smith is asking to be separated by law from her husband, Elmer L. Smith, because she says he was cruel and failed to provide for her. They were married in New Jersey in April, 1921, and separated in Brea on July 29 of this year. Smith let his wife support him, cursed her because she did not get his meals for him on time, and was possessed of such an uncontrollable temper that at one time he went into the chicken yard and killed a chicken with his hands because he was enraged, the complaint charges.

Beulah Crews is suing her husband, Ben R. Crews, for divorce on the grounds that he failed to provide for her, took her money, became cold and intolerant, and left her. They were married in Riverside in April, 1929, and separated in May, 1932.

MAN FOUND GUILTY 'GYPPING' COUNTY

George Stone, Santa Ana, charged with petty theft, was given a three months' suspended jail sentence in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday.

He was accused by the county welfare department of falsifying an order to obtain groceries from that department on two different occasions. The groceries were worth $48 and a condition of the suspended sentence is that he repay the county the $48.

PLACES NEEDS OF JOBLESS ABOVE ROADS

In an address over KREG last night, John Knox, former mayor of Santa Ana, and candidate for supervisor, declared that the needs of the unemployed were of more importance than scenic highways and that at times like these such luxuries should be abandoned temporarily. Knox also heartily approved of the principle outlined by the Orange County Civic league this week and urged the people to support only those candidates who espouse such principles and policies.

He said in part:

"Ladies and Gentlemen and Friends: I would like to congratulate the Civic league on the very fine statement of principles which they carried on in their advertising the other night. These principles I have been endeavoring to carry out in my public life as mayor of the city of Santa Ana, and expect to carry them out in any position to which I am hereafter elected.

"I would like also to express publicly my approval of the position which The Register has taken on many questions, and more particularly the discussion that they made of the Ortega highway and the expenditure of money on that road at this time. In the light of other pressing needs of the county we should do in public matters what we are forced to do in private matters, forego the luxuries temporarily at least. The publisher was right when he insisted needs of the unemployed are paramount at the present moment to that scenic highway.

"We should all be grateful that we have an institution like the Civic league interested in principles and policies rather than candidates. I have been led to change my opinions concerning what we are forced to do in private matters, because after watching them I find that their purpose is not to get certain men in office or personal gain for themselves, but to emphasize the principles of good government, economy and to help the common man.

"The voters of the city and county should make their selection from among the candidates who are known to espouse such principles and policies, that if clean government in all its branches."

SEEK TO SELL SOME ASSETS OF OLD RANCH

A petition to sell personal property on the Bastanchury Corporation, Ltd., Orange county's largest citrus ranch, has been filed with Ben E. Tarver, bankruptcy referee, by Ashby Turner, trustee, it was learned today.

At the present time all that will be sold is about 12 horses on the ranch, although the petition calls for sale of all personal property on the ranch, according to Tarver. If any real estate were to be sold, Tarver said, title companies would demand that the property to be sold be described in the documents of sale.

A hearing on the petition of sale and to abandon assets as well as petitions for attorney's fees will be held next Tuesday at the office of the referee at 2 p. m. The office is in the Otis building.

The trustee is asking $1000 for his services. Attorneys for the bankrupt are asking $1500 for fees and attorneys for the trustee are trying to obtain $5000 for their services.

No Protests On School Budget

SEAL BEACH, July 21.—No protests were entered against the proposed 1932-1933 budget for the Seal Beach elementary school district at the meeting of the school trustees called this week for the purpose of hearing complaints from taxpayers.

The proposed budget calls for $23,072.50, of which $10,524.00 is appropriated by the state and county, and with approximately $1,000 in the school fund from last year, the sum of $11,548.50 is necessary to be raised by district taxes.

LIBRARY RANKS SECOND WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, July 22.—The Westminster county branch library ranks second in the county, according to the number of applicants for cards on file, San Clemente rating first.

There are 550 signed cards of local people privileged to secure books and magazines. This list, includes a number who have been patrons of the library since its opening over 15 years ago.

Over 900 books are recorded each month by the local custodian, Mrs. Gladys Anderson.

SEEKS DEBATE

Far removed from the submission and reply viewpoints of the Republican and Democratic parties, William D. Upshaw, below, presidential nominee of the Prohibition party, has issued a challenge for a debate with President Hoover, Governor Roosevelt, or their spokesmen.

SAM NAU AND WIFE RETURN FROM CONCLAVE

First hand impressions of the national Democratic convention at Chicago were brought Santa Ana today by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Nau, of Prospect avenue, Tustin, who arrived yesterday via Southern Pacific after a five weeks' trip climaxed by attendance at the political conclave.

Traveling east via Union Pacific, the Nauses paused in Burlington, Ia., for a visit with Mr. Nau's uncle, George Nau, and family, before reaching Chicago. The return trip was made via the Canadian Rockies, six days being allowed for a mountain trip which carried them to Lake Louise, Banff, Emerald lake, and other famous resorts. In Portland, Ore., they were the guests for a few days of Mr. Nau's brother, William Nau, heading south from this point through the Sacramento valley where they declared they encountered their only hot weather.

Describing the convention as "one of the most exciting experiences they had ever enjoyed," Mr. and Mrs. Nau declared, further,

NOTED SPEAKER SECURED FOR DRY MEETING

A stirring message on the timely subject, "Prohibition," will be delivered by Mary Harris Armour, L. L. D., national and world lecturer for the W. C. T. U. at a meeting which is open to the public and which will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian church. It was announced today by the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the church.

The speaker is regarded as one of the foremost women orators in the United States and her appearance in Santa Ana is expected to attract a large and enthusiastic audience.

The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Orange County Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by a junior orchestra from Riverside.

MESA MAN GUILTY OF WAGE LAW VIOLATION

Leslie E. Master, of Costa Mesa, charged in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court with violation of the state wage laws, was found guilty yesterday and sentenced to serve 6 months in the county jail, the sentence being suspended on condition that Master pay the money for labor he owes.

The complaining witness in the case is Mrs. Ruth Swanson, of Santa Ana and the amount of the debt is $320, according to the records in the case.

That in some respects it almost equaled Madison Square Garden, the latter comment referred to the rowdiness in the gallery, which impressed them as the single marvellous feature in an otherwise "perfect convention." On one occasion this situation caused a delay of one hour in an address by William G. McAdoo, they pointed out.

One of the most spectacular moments in the week's session, in their estimation, was the arrival by plane of Franklin D. Roosevelt to accept the presidential nomination, his speech and personal presence impressing the Santa Anans very favorably.

Pleasant Party Series Is Continued With Luncheon Event

Continuing their plans for entertaining at a series of smaller parties through the late summer, Mrs. Charles V. Davis and Mrs. J. L. Clark yesterday welcomed a group of friends to the Davis home at 2115 North Broadway where the afternoon of contract bridge was preceded by a luncheon of much charm.

The loveliness which pasted pointed pompadour dahlia had given to the home, for these dainty little balls of bloom were called to adorn the card tables where the luncheon menu was served. Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Davis had the assistance of the latter's young daughter, Miss Barbara June Davis, in serving the menu, as they had in greeting their guests and in all hospitable details of the afternoon.

In the contract session, prizes went to those scoring high at individual tables. Mrs. Roy Hall, Mrs. William A. Flood, Mrs. James Harding, Mrs. W. E. Winslow and Mrs. J. Philip Hatzfeld.

Plans for similar parties are being perfected by yesterday's hostesses, the next to be given in about two weeks and to be similar in all details to that of yesterday and to the one of recent date when Mrs. Davis launched the series.

At the earlier affair, she entertained alone with Mrs. Clark assisting in various friendly ways. Petting plants were the flowers which she chose to grace her home, and their silken petals formed a rich mass of color on the one long table where luncheon was served preceding the afternoon of bridge.

Prizes at this first party were awarded Mrs. Robert G. Tutill and Mrs. L. A. Collier.

Italian dishes lent a foreign flavor to the picnic supper which culminated a gay bachelorette party enjoyed by Phi Sigma members and their friends on the shores of Corona del Mar one evening this week.

Taking advantage of their picnic locale, members of the party indulged in swimming during the early hours of the evening, abandoning the surf for an hour of sport on the beach before joining the picnic's supervisors, headed by Jack Beckett and Paul Beckman. The Italian foods were served members around a roaring wood fire.

Those enjoying the expedition were the Misses Betty Stork, Peggy Warburton, Doris Thurston, Norma Fulmer, Eugenia Richards, Millicent George, Ruth Potter, Alice Forey, Vera Douglas, Elma McBride, Charlene Lovell, Elizabeth Boehm, Claire Herr, Pauline Berry, Lucille Conway, Betty Smith, Gloria Hunt, Iva Van Deusen, Helen Harper and Pauline Williams.

Others in the party were Messrs. Bob Naylor, Gene Edwards, Loyal Wickhorst, Edgar Chamberlain, Bascom Rush, Jack Beckett, Rowan McKenna, Lloyd Miller, Chester Dyars, Don Young, Edward Fernow, Jr., Bud Helms, Chandler Kerr, David McDougall, Reg Rust, Newell Vandermast, Paul Beckman, Bob Edwards, Louis Rogers, Winfield Hess; Mr. and Mrs. George Horton and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Horton.

Sorority Calendar for Coming Week Lists
Two Events

Sigma Tau Phi sorority members were concerned Wednesday night with plans for two sorority events of the immediate future, the first to take place Saturday evening, when members will join in a progressive dinner and sports dance, honoring Miss Louise Leck, pledge of the society. A second meeting discussed was that of next Wednesday night, when the sorority will hold formal initiation for Miss Leck.

Miss Jean Peacock entertained the club at her home, 515 North Garney street, members lingering after the business meeting for several rounds of bridge before refreshments were served and the session adjourned.

Present for the meeting were the Misses Jean and Betty Rowland, Carol Howe, Agnita Wheeler, Lucille Conway, Doris Goff, Eloise Wright, Mary Read, Winifred Johnston, Virginia Berry, Anne Tarver, Barbara Westcott, Alice Majors, Louise Leck, Mesdames Francis Selway, Edmund Linsenbarr, and the hostess, Miss Jean Peacock.

With the arrival of Mrs. Alta Cook, currently of Berkeley, to occupy the home of her niece, Mrs. Harry S. Harlow, of 1329 North River street, in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Harlow, who are enjoying a vacation at Arrowhead Villas, Santa Ana, are learning of the honors which have befallen Mrs. Cook's son, Lyle Cook, a graduate of Santa Ana high school and junior college, in Berkeley, where he is completing a law course.

Recognition was paid the Santa Ana graduate for the best work achieved by a law student in the legal aid department conducted by the county of Alameda at a banquet held recently in the north, when he was presented by the district attorney of Alameda county with a coveted copy of the California State Law code.

The former Santa Ana, who completed his undergraduate work at Stanford University, took a year and a half of his graduate law course at the same university before transferring to the University of California at Berkeley. His study at the latter institution has been supplemented with law work in behalf of the poor of Alameda county, a project which enjoys the sponsorship of the legal offices of that county and which affords a field of practice for the students of law at the University of California. Mr. Cook's award represented the prize offered annually to the student best acquainting himself in the department.

Mrs. Cook, who has had the Harlow's children, Elaine and Harry Harlow, in her charge during their parents' absence, expects to return north soon after the Santa Anans arrive from the mountains, about August 1. Her son will enroll at Berkeley for his final year of law, in mid-August.

Sister Hostesses Give Pleasant Card Party

Two tables of bridge were in play this week when the Misses Emma and Minnie Hasty were hostesses at a pleasant event in their home, 1513 West Fourth street. Flowers from the home gardens were used in decorating. As the result of the games, Miss Beulah May scored high and Miss Ruth Cartmell second high. Others present were Mrs. Fred Conover, Miss Lucy Carter, Mrs. J. F. Richards, Miss Fernie Tedrow and the hostesses, the Misses Hasty. Delicious refreshments were served in concluding the affair.

Home Builders Have Outdoor Dinner

Extending the hospitality of their home, 2427 Hilltop drive, to members of the Home Builders' class of the First Christian church, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gerrard were hosts at an enjoyable party Tuesday evening.

The grounds of the home provided the setting for the event. Steaks were broiled on the outdoor grill, and were served with the main course of the covered-dish menu. About 40 class members and their families were present for the occasion.

A short business session followed. Members discussed plans for future class activities.

Santa Anans Conclude Motor Excursion
Through North

A motor trip along the Redwood and Columbia highways to Portland, Ore., will be among the summer memories of Mrs. Edith Thatcher, 508 East Chestnut street, Miss Edith Biggin, 1230 Fresno street, who returned yesterday from an automobile journey of more than a fortnight's duration.

Side excursions to Crater Lake and the Oregon caves, both renowned in that country, were included among the Santa Anans' experiences, while in Portland they had the unusual opportunity of inspecting a rather large collection of pedigree dogs owned by an uncle of Mrs. Thatcher, S. E. Jackson, with whom they visited in the northern city.

Various Santa Anans encountered in the north afforded pleasant and unexpected contacts, the motorists discovering Mr. and Mrs. Harry LeBar at Crater Lake and next day meeting Mrs. LeBar's mother, Mrs. Etta D. Sweet, and Mrs. Nell Winslow, who already have returned. While in the San Francisco bay region Mrs. Thatcher enjoyed a visit with a former college friend.

Church Societies

Play Features Social
The faculty of the wagging tongue for building the momentum out of the trivial was pointedly demonstrated Tuesday night in a humorous one-act play of five scenes presented by a cast of church women at the First Methodist church as the final feature of a program presented at the annual dollar social of the Women's Aid society of that denomination. A public event, the program was attended by a large number of guests as well as by members of the society and their friends.

The play, entitled "How the Story Grew," was staged by Mrs. Louis Allen and directed by Mrs. John Clarkson, while the cast included Mesdames Fred Wager, Delmar French, C. E. Kellogg, J. C. Plack, George Cleaver, C. W. Davies, J. C. Gardiner and R. E. Graves. The entire group of women shared in the congratulations tendered them at the performance's close.

Religious program features equally well received were the piano selections of Miss Margaret Gaebe and a vocal duet by Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh and Francis J. Haynes.

Superintending the annual affair was Mrs. R. E. Graves, president of the society, whose efforts in the program's behalf likewise were commended.

First Catch Your Young Walnuts

Pickled walnuts are an expensive delicacy if one buys them, but so easy to have in quantity if growing walnuts are available. Here is an old and accurate method of preparing them:

Take 100 young walnuts (husk included). Lay them in salt water for about two or three days, changing the water every day. Drain them and lay on a soft cloth for some hours to dry off. Simmer them in a strong spiced vinegar solution until easily pierced with a darning needle, then bottle. For the spicing of the vinegar use 2 quarts of vinegar 2 tablespoonsful of white mustard seed, 1 ounce of powdered ginger, 2 tablespoonsful of powdered mace, 2 whole nutmegs, chopped up, and 2 whole heads of garlic, peeled but not minced. Bring this mixture to a rapid boil, add 2 cups brown sugar and simmer the walnuts until tender.

The nuts must not be so old that the shell has already hardened. Test for greenness by cutting through with a sharp knife or pierce with a darning needle.

TODAY'S RECIPE
POPOVERS
(One Panful)

2 eggs 1 cup sifted flour 1 scant teaspoon salt 1 cup milk

If you intend to have GOOD popovers, frequently, it will pay you to buy a set of iron pans made expressly for their baking. The pans cost $1.50, but are worth $10, for there are many other uses for them. . . . cup cakes take on an attractive crusty brown . . . while hot bread rolls are just the last word in crisp attractiveness baked in them. I'm not ballyhooing for some shop. I just like them!

Break the eggs into a pitcher and whip until frothy. Sift flour with salt twice and beat into the eggs a little at a time, alternating flour with milk in mixing. After everything is mixed, keep on beating hard for two minutes—that's to get AIR into the batter, for it's air, plus moisture and steam, that makes the popovers pop. So don't spare your right arm.

As soon as you start mixing the popovers, turn on the oven and let it heat until it is around 450 degrees. Slip the iron pans into the oven to heat also, a bit of fat in each cup. This ought to take about 13 minutes.

ANN'S PANTRY SHELF

The current weekly leaflet is free if you send a self-addressed, stamped envelope. BACK NUMBERS can only be supplied for two cents each, to cover the expense of handling.

Just address Ann Meredith, care of The Register, and check any of the following you want, enclosing two cents each, AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope:

-New Frozen Desserts
-Parisian Salad Secrets
-Simple Make-up Lotion
-Simple Make-Up Lotion
-Five in One Cookie Recipe

Into each cup to fill one-half and set into the hot oven. As soon as the popovers begin to come up, well, reduce the heat slightly, watch carefully and reduce it a trifle more when they are fully risen, then leave at that stage to finish drying out the moisture or the "pops" will fall the minute they are taken from the oven. Thirty minutes is the baking time.

Oven temperatures: Preheat 12 minutes to 450 degrees. After popovers have baked for 10 minutes, reduce heat to 400 degrees. After 20 minutes of baking reduce the heat to 350 degrees and finish at that temperature.

There are 58 calories in each popover, with more than half that amount in energy units, the rest in the body-building proteins. It isn't what's in the popovers that matters; it is what you dress them with; then they become figure-wreckers!

GROWING OLD GRACEFULLY—the subject of the leaflet for the week, discusses this interesting subject from many angles, most of them interesting to women of any age. You are invited to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope so that a free copy can be sent to you.

Saturday's recipe will be a Fritter Batter to use for all sorts of things.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Woodson left Tuesday for Forest Home to remain until the first of August. From Santa Ana they were accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Cecil Sauer, and son and their other daughter, Mrs. Mabel Lee Galloway, and two children, of Colton, are also of their party.

"FLAMES" SHOWING AT WALKER STATE

The romance of a simple fireman with the self-sufficient secretary of a big manufacturer, filmed against a background of sparkling comedy and thrilling fires, is related with dramatic effect in "Flames," the brilliant attraction which plays tomorrow at Walker's State Theatre.

The picture presents a fresh and convincing angle on the thrilling every day existence of the brave fire-fighters in a great city. Johnny Mack Brown, who won laurels for his clever portrayal of "Bully, the Kid," and as leading man for Garbo, Mary Pickford and Joan Crawford, plays the role of the brave fireman, while his leading lady is Noel Francis, former Ziegfeld Follies star.

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, July 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Leo McLaughlin and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pessenecker, of Pasadena, were callers in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips while their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wattell, of Newhall, were here as their guests for a day this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Gibson, who for the past seven years have been residing at Akron, Ohio, and have just returned to Huntington Beach, called on former friends this week. The couple has bought a home at Costa Mesa and will occupy it soon.

Mrs. Mildred Ridenour and daughter, Miss Harriette Ridenour, of Huntington Beach, were entertained as luncheon guests by Mrs. E. Ray Moore. They were accompanied home by Doris Moore who remained as their guest over night.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Grana and Peter Grana were recent visitors in the home of relatives at Baldwin Park.

Dr. Hawkins and Edward Kouth of Pasadena who are members of the Los Patos club, were overnight guests at the club one night this week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips visited with relatives in Santa Ana Monday.

RUENA PARK

BUENA PARK, July 22.—D. J. Morrow, of Buena Park, has left for Chicago to visit relatives.

A group of Buena Park people enjoyed an early morning breakfast Sunday morning, when they motored to Irvine park. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sprung and sons, Jack and Harry Jr., Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Sopha and son, Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Beavers and children, Woodrow, Bobby, J. C., Dorothy Marie and Mary Jane, Mrs. Mariana Johnson, Miss Trena Johnson and Tom Johnson.

Gordon McComber, who has been seriously ill with blood poisoning from a blister on his heel, is improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill of Benet, Ill., arrived Saturday to spend a couple of months with relatives in Southern California.

Carl Harris is entertaining a cousin from Arizona.

Marie and Betty Hatch are guests of their aunt in Whittier this week.

Margaret Battelle is the house guest of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Wilson, at their home in Los Angeles.

The boys' eighth grade Sunday school class will hold a weiner bake at Huntington Beach, Friday night. Their teacher, Glen Newman, will accompany them. Swimming will be included in the evening's activities. Members are advised to meet at the Congregational church at 5 o'clock.

LA HABRA, July 22.—The Orange County Democratic club, which was organized in Santa Ana some weeks ago, will hold a rally in La Habra next Tuesday evening.

The meeting will be held in the building adjoining the bank on West Central avenue. Speakers for the evening will be Orange county candidates.

IN SANTA ANA TODAY

Chio Sale is seen with an unusually strong cast in "Stranger in Town," starting today at the Fox Broadway theater.

"WET PARADE" TO SHOW HERE FOR TWO DAYS

One of the strongest casts assembled in many a season and one of the most interest-provoking dramas yet depicted on the talking screen make "The Wet Parade," now showing at the Fox West Coast theater today and Saturday, a picture far above the ordinary run of film fare.

Here is a love story which has a background of stirring modern events. Dramatic interest is centered on the effects of liquor on a wide variety of people, starting with the disintegration of a cultured and aristocratic family of the pre-war South which results in the suicide of Lewis Stone, and continuing with the period of the old corner saloon days of New York where the romance between Dorothy Jordan and Robert Young is introduced.

Miss Jordan, Robert Young, Lewis Stone, Walter Huston, the amusing Jimmy "Schnozzle" Durante and Neil Hamilton offer outstanding work in the principal roles while the work of the supporting players including Wallace Ford, Myrna Loy, John Miljan, Joan Marsh, Clara Blandick and Emma Dunn is uniformly excellent.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, July 22.—Miss Sadie Scott has been a guest in the home of Mrs. Robert Walker and one day of her stay Mrs. Walker, Chester Walker, Dale and Don Walker took their guest to Huntington Beach for a beach party. Jack Frohlich, of Los Angeles, nephew of Mrs. Glenn Wells, spent two days as a guest in the Wells home and was joined here by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Frohlich.

Billy and Jackie Brooks have returned from Bellflower, where they spent 10 days as the guest of their cousin, Everett Stewart, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Farrar attended a reception given Wednesday evening for the pastor of the First Methodist church of Garden Grove, the Rev. George Ralston, and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Finley and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richards, of Los Angeles, have returned from a week at Yosemite National park. Mr. Finley who is a native son of Westminster, especially enjoyed the trip as he had never before been further north in this state than Bakersfield.

Mrs. J. J. Ward and daughter, Miss Mildred Ward, are in Ventura, their former home, where they are friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walton, Winifred and Keith Walton and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walton spent Wednesday evening as guests of Mrs. Walton's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dole in Long Beach.

Westminster people, including Mr. and Mrs. William Hannagan and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Penhall and son, Mrs. May Smith, Mrs. Anna Campbell and son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Campbell, Miss Ella Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Penhall, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Penhall and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Penhall and two sons held a wedding cake on the beach Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Larier spent Wednesday in Hemet, where they were entertained by the Rev. R. A. Weld, former pastor of the local Presbyterian church, and family. Miss Vivian Weld who last term attended college in Kansas City, Mo., is teaching the special school at Hemet for children of the fruit workers.

Mrs. Nanna Madden of Santa Ana, sister of Mrs. E. B. Anderson, is spending a few days in the Anderson home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schindler, of Anaheim, were recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Eder, while Mrs. Eder's two sisters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Bernhard of Anaheim, and Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Terras, of this place, came for a game of cards Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Mattie Neathery, of Point Fermin and her daughter, Mrs. Marybelle Griffith, of Torrance, were Wednesday guests of Mrs. Addie L. Blakey.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bickford motored to Los Angeles for a day and brought home their small son, Vernon, who had been with friends in that city.

Orill Hare and son, Orill Jr., and Bob Hosack left Tuesday on a fishing trip near Lake Arrowhead.

Keith Walton is spending a week at Villa Park in the home

YOUTHS URGED TO STAY HOME

Miss Lillian D. Wald, one of New York's most noted settlement workers, in a radio broadcast recently warned young women not to go to New York looking for a job. Out here in California which is itself a mecca for those who are discontented with their own community and surroundings, there is little evidence of need for such warning. But in small places in the middle west and central states New York and California are lands of dreams—promised lands to which the thoughts of youth, ambitious for adventure and romance and independence, are drawn and propel their feet. The lessons of "Acres of Diamonds" and green pastures that are always greener on the other side of the fence carry little weight. Youth's dreams do not permit reality to intrude except by some force of circumstances and then sometimes it happens that there is conflict devastating to the personality of the young individual.

The big city is cruel. The very intensity of the conflict necessitated by existence there develops an indifference to fellow humans which is lacking in smaller places. People who have exoriated the gossips of the small communities say in favor of the city that it leaves you alone. There come times when it leaves you too much alone.

CHANCELLOR VON PAPAN CONTROLS

Chancellor Franz von Papan is today virtual dictator of Berlin, Prussia and the national government. He declares he has things so well in hand that he can remove the restrictions placed by martial law on Berlin and Brandenburg within the next three or four days.

Von Papan can almost certainly be counted upon to make mistakes. It will be remembered when he was in this country during the war, and before the declaration of war by our country, he was guilty of sabotage, and made the mistake of taking loads of incriminating evidence with him as he left the country, which were taken from his person, and implicated scores of his accomplices.

His proposed attempt to destroy the Welland canal, etc., went amiss. He can be counted upon in emergencies to do the wrong thing. It may be, however, that he understands the German mind better than the English or American, because it was the English who discovered the things upon his person after permitting him to go back to Germany, without this impediment.

POOR EVIDENCE FOR INDICTMENT

James Stewart Carstairs, well-known painter and art collector, declares the American people are a race of "rogues and children, governed by morons." Why does he say this?

Well, in order to meet a $50,000 indebtedness he put up his furniture and collection of antiques, first editions of books and pictures that he considered invaluable and would bring high prices, and the total went for $7000. A William and Mary table, we are told worth $5000, was sold for $80, and Chinese rugs valued at $1000 sold for $30.

The fact that the people didn't buy is no evidence that they were either rogues or morons. They didn't buy probably for the same reason Carstairs didn't buy it back at those prices. A man isn't a rogue or a moron simply because he hasn't the money. In fact, it may be the best evidence that he isn't a rogue if he hasn't the money.

DRY AND WET CANDIDATES

Senator Shortridge is back home, openly declaring that he will carry out the principles of the Republican platform in December, under the Glass resolution, and vote out a resolution for an amendment which will do away with the Eighteenth amendment. Of course! And incidentally he voted to violate it in spirit by voting to increase the alcoholic content in beer, and have it pay a tax here in this last session. Shortridge, Tubbs and Youngworth are the "wet" candidates; Crall and "Bob" Shuler are the "dry" candidates whose names will appear on the Republican ticket. Shuler is running as a Prohibitionist, and in fact is registered as a member of the Prohibition party. His name also appears on the Democratic ticket. There is little question but that everyone will have an opportunity to vote his views in the primaries, as also in the election afterwards.

TO DISREGARD PARTY LINES

News comes from Washington that those who are opposing the Eighteenth Amendment under the head of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, are going to support the candidates who take this position, regardless of the party platforms on which they run.

Pierre S. DuPont, chairman of the executive committee, has made this declaration. He declares that if the liquor traffic comes back, the users of liquor will pay $10,000,000 of taxes which his company pays now. Money knows no partisan politics. The prohibitionists taught profit and greed to act on this principle. They placed the laws upon the statute books of the states and nation by ignoring party lines and voting for the men who stood for prohibition. Parties cut little figure when it comes to important issues.

PRISON REWARD

We were just looking at a picture of Norman Selby, known as "Kid McCoy," former boxing champion. He was smiling and is reported to be happy. He has spent this last seven years in San Quentin, and he is out on parole. He says: "I am elated at being out in the open again."

After all, our joys and sorrows are relative. Just to be free and beneath the open sky and underneath God's sunshine, gives the greatest joy imaginable, if one has been deprived of it for a few weeks, months or years. We cease to appreciate those things which should give us the highest enjoyment, after we have possessed them for a period.

RAILROADS MERGE

The Interstate Commerce Commission has approved the merging of the great Eastern trunk line railroads into four systems. Business conditions are forcing these consolidations.

Money saved through eliminating competition in carrying traffic will be saved the public eventually. It is remarkable the power that the government exercises through its declarations, and how at will it can abrogate decisions of the Supreme Court, when they interfere with necessary business programming. These four big systems will be the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore and Ohio and the Chesapeake and Ohio.

ONLY JULY

We notice that already they are predicting that Ohio is going to be carried by Roosevelt by a 300,000 majority, and that Minnesota will follow suit. The old political rule was to claim everything with confidence. And they started in with rock-ribbed Republican Ohio. Carrying elections in July and carrying them in November are entirely different propositions. It is certain that business conditions will have a tremendous effect on the vote in November. We are hoping that there will be a marked change before that time.

A CORRECTION

In our editorials of yesterday there appeared an error. It was stated that the payments from Europe to America on debts were due September 15. This should have been December 15.

A gambling ship burned last night 12 miles off Long Beach. The 100 pleasure-seekers on board were rescued. It brings to mind the fact that law is being pretty well enforced when people have to go out 12 miles to sea in order to gamble without molestation.

Can Both Parties Have Been Plain
Dumb-Bells on This?

San Francisco Chronicle

"Why did both parties go out of their way to declare for the World Court," asks somebody, "at the very time when the European nations were warring on their debts and making it unpopular for us to have anything to do with them?"

Just that! Men of information, like the framers of these two party platforms, are for the World Court because they know it is a court and not a political body, and because this very issue illustrates the difference.

What, for instance, would the Court do on this debt question? In the first place, the case could not get before the Court without our consent, and hardly even then, since nobody else would want it there, either. But if, by some miracle, it were in the Court, what would happen?

The only aspect of the case that the Court, just because it is a court, could consider, would be the legal one. The questions whether these debts are a moral obligation, or whether our debtors are able to pay them, or whether it would do us more harm than good if they did pay, are all political or economic matters, with which the Court, just because it is a court, could have nothing to do. Its only issue would be whether, in law, these debts are legally owed.

And on that question, obviously, the decision would be instantly and unanimously on our side, including the British, French and Italian judges. In fact, the case would go by default. Our debtors would not even claim that they do not legally owe the money. They have never claimed it.

If we will only get it into our heads that this Court is a court, and nothing else, it will save us a lot of confusion.

Just a Quaint Old Congressional Racket!

More Truth Than Poetry

DAVID AND GOLIATH

To pit a man's brains against a bug's,
Who's never been to school or college,
To cope with aphids, grubs and slugs
By using our superior knowledge,
To drive these insects from the yard,
Their hopes and their ambitions thwarting,
I frankly must confess is hardly sporting.

The bug has but a shred of brain;
He's never had the aid of teachers;
His livelihood he's forced to gain
As must his foes, we human creatures.
A mean, unthinking thing he is,
Mere life and happiness pursuing,
While we exert our minds for his Undoing.

We trample him beneath our feet
As, wearied with his toil he slumbers;
We give him poisoned drugs to eat
And slay him in uncounted numbers.
And yet on tree and plain and lawn
He sings his song, he sounds his rattle;
All undisturbed he carries on
The battle.

If but the insect could employ
The tiniest fraction of man's reason,
The race of humans he'd destroy
Within a single fleeting season.
Despite our trained and practiced wit,
We've rarely given him a beating.
We've simply got to do a bit
Of cheating!

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

OUR ECONOMIC LEDGER

Ray Vance, sometime president of the Brookmire Economic Service, has given an interesting picture of how our economic ledger looks to him just now.

Mr. Vance, dealing with six things which precede the end of a depression, sees three of them accomplished and three remaining to be done.

We have done the following three things:

(1) We have largely liquidated speculative positions in securities. Brokers' loans are 95 per cent below the peak they reached as the crash came. They are now below $400,000,000. They no longer represent the serious factor they did earlier in our economic situation.

(2) We have drastically cut our current debts.

Bank loans, off more than 25 per cent at the end of 1931, are down a further 33 per cent. Other debts are down even more drastically.

(3) We have severely reduced the available supply of goods for consumption.

Department store stocks are down in physical volume almost 20 per cent. Inventories everywhere are low. And if we add to the low inventories to factories and stores the accumulated obsolescence of goods in the hands of the individual consumers after two and a half years of restricted buying, the dammed-up demand for goods becomes impressive.

We have not done the following three things:

(1) We have not adjusted our long-term or capital debts to the existing general price levels.

With prices having dropped so drastically, our capital debts are seriously inflated, for as we deflate our prices we inflate our capital debts, and this dangerous disparity will continue until we lift the price level through inflating or redefining the dollar or by some other means.

(2) We have not readjusted our public budgets to the current economic situation.

A statesmanlike handling of public expenditures and taxation is essential to full economic recovery.

(3) We have not yet convinced the holders of the cash of the country that the time is ripe for its profitable use.

But we can do this if and when we effect the readjustments just listed and a courageous leadership calls the lazy cash of the nation to the colors.

THE BOSS

Any of us is glad to follow a leader. Every one of us hates to be bossed. We will go to the end of our strength to carry out the kindly suggestion, the good word of counsel, but we will settle back on our haunches and growl at the sound of the booming voice of the boss.

Children resent the boss with all the might of their minds. They hate to feel themselves in the complete control of somebody else. They are being robbed of their right to be themselves and that is right enough to make anybody fight. Fathers, and a few mothers, are often guilty of bossing their children, greatly to their own discomfort and to the unhappiness of the children.

A little girl was learning to help her mother about the house. She proudly emptied and washed an ash tray and was on her way to replace it on the table that claimed it for its own when her father called, "Here, Bess, bring it here. Put it on this table."

Bess stood and appeared undecided about the matter. Then she shook her head and said, "No, it belongs over here."

That was enough for father. His dignity as a parent was outraged. "You bring that thing over here and put it where I told you."

"Why? Why do you want me to put it over there? Mother told me to put it on this table."

"You do what I tell you and don't ask any questions about it either. I'm your father. That's all you need to know about it. When I tell you to do a thing you do it or I'll know the reason why."

Can you imagine how that father would feel if his boss spoke to him like that? Just because he was speaking to a helpless child he bullied and blustered and threatened her into a state of hysterics. Of course, later on, this father is going to wonder why his daughter shuns him. He will weep into his coffee cup and declare children to be as ungrateful as the serpent's tooth. I hope the toothache will be all his own. I hope that gnawing pain will continue until love and the wisdom it brings opens his eyes to the mistakes he makes. I would not wish this pain upon him save as a warning signal of what is to come if he persists in his wrongheaded way. Bossism wrecks homes and drives children into wrong notions about all sorts of simple things such as home, father, mother, leadership and authority.

Bosses are lonely people and doomed to a lonely old age. The children that might have rallied round them toward the end have long since departed from their presence. The friends that might have stood by him have escaped. The relatives who could not escape have withdrawn as far as possible and make their visits and friendly gestures scarce and sparse. Bossism pays no dividends in love.

Children respond to leadership like needles to magnets. They will follow the leader who lures them with words of encouragement and praise and affection. It isn't too much to ask of a father, or mother or grandparent, that he speak kindly to a child? That he lead him rather than attempt to drive him? Especially when he ought to know by personal experience how ineffective bossing can be.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR
ANNIVERSARY

GERMANS DEFEATED

On July 22, 1918, the German high command threw several fresh divisions into the Marne salient in an effort to stop the advance of the victorious American and French troops.

During the morning the Allied forces beat off several strong counter-attacks and during the afternoon resumed their advance. Epieds fell into their hands before nightfall.

Allied observers said that nearly 50 German divisions had been engaged in the fighting in the Marne salient. Losses in this group had been tremendous.

British troops continued their gains in the Hebuterne region. Definite announcement was made that the czar of Russia and members of his immediate family had been shot on July 16.
